Here on Same Charge.

Three men were arrested and apparatus for counterfeiting 50 cent pieces was confiscated Sunday afternoon by secret service agents and city detectives in a raid which came as the aftermath of the nation-wide federal war against crime and criminals. Agents believe they nipped at a wholesale counterfeiting ring in the bud.

The three caught were Luis Eduardo DeShelley, 45, a native of Venezuela; W. E. Bartlett, 25, who gave a Dill avenue address and J. B. Dodson, 38, also of Dill avenue. They were held in the city jail and will be assigned before Commissioner E. S. Griffith Tuesday.

DeShelley is said to be a noted counterfeiter and artist and it is stated, was only recently deported from the United States after serving a 15-year sentence at the federal penitentiary here for counterfeiting. Bartlett, secret service man, is also a former convict, having served time at Chillicothe reformatory.

Dodson was taken into custody Sunday night and will be held for investigation by the federal men. Agents did not say what his record was.

Seventy-five almost perfect imitation half dollars were found in the room DeShelley and Bartlett were occupying at the Lenox hotel, at 4 Port place, and agents confiscated a complete set of parafilm plates, an electroplating apparatus and copper plates and electric needles such as used in etching and engraving.

The bogus money was silver-plated and federal men said it was probably the best ever made. The silver plate made acid tests give authority to the money, except when the surface was scratched deep enough to reveal the "high speed babbit, and glass" which formed the foundation.

O. H. Brodus and Cecil H. Jones of the secret service and City Detectives P. B. Bailey, W. L. Tyson and R. E. Pollard made the arrests shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon after DeShelley and Bartlett had been shadowed for several days by agents.

Jones said federal men believed a plot for wholesale reproduction of big bills had been nipped in the bud by the arrests, because copper plates and electric needles were found in DeShelley's room.

The South American was convicted of etching plates for bills of large denominations before, and agents said he would not "fool around with half dollars" long.

DeShelley, who had a number of aliases, was shipped out of this country through New Orleans April 1, after completing his term in the prison, but admitted he came back into the United States about a month ago by way of Key West, Fla.

Several dozen bogus 50-cent pieces have been turned into the secret service department here in the last 30 days.

'Upside Down Stomach' Paralleled on Coast

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 17.—(AP) Another "upside-down" stomach case was disclosed here today when parents of 13-year-old Jimmie Neilson said he had received a letter from Fall River, Mass., where the stomach of Alysce McHenry was righted by an operation.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Neilson, said the reply was an offer from Dr. Philemon Edwards Truesdale, who performed the operation on Alysce, to do the same for Jimmie if he can be taken to Fall River.

MOVE TO 'SCRAP' SECURITY PLANS MADE IN HOUSE

Group Seeks To Persuade Roosevelt To Abandon All But Old-Age Pension Phase.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Led by Representative Isabella Greenway, of Arizona, a group of house democrats today sought to persuade the president to scrap all the proposed old security legislation for this session save old-age pensions.

The directors of the movement were prepared to force party chieftains to call a caucus to test the majority sentiment of the democrats on the issue. They have circulated a petition and have received the 25 signatures necessary to compel the calling of the secret party meeting.

Speaker Byrnes and other leaders, however, attempted to get the originator of the petition, Representative Greenway, to withhold presenting it pending action Tuesday by the administration measure. It is planned by party chiefs to present the measure to the president for his signature.

Seventy-five almost perfect imitation half dollars were found in the room DeShelley and Bartlett were occupying at the Lenox hotel, at 4 Port place, and agents confiscated a complete set of parafilm plates, an electroplating apparatus and copper plates and electric needles such as used in etching and engraving.

3 Georgians Killed In Pistol Duel

SWAINSBORO, Ga., March 17.—(AP)—Three persons were dead here today as the result of what Sheriff J. Youmans described as a pistol duel fought by two men over a young woman at a roadside dance late Saturday night.

Two victims of the shooting were listed by the sheriff as Miss Odessa Jones, Gary Fields and Harry Nunn. Sheriff Youmans said the woman was shot to death by Fields while she was dancing, and that a few minutes later Nunn and Fields engaged in a duel at close range. Nunn was killed outright and Fields shortly afterward in a hospital.

An inquest will be held Tuesday morning.

TALMADGE TAKING HIS TAX PROPOSAL DIRECT TO PEOPLE

Governor's 10-Mill Plan Address to House and Senate Wednesday Will Be Carried Over Radio.

Governor Talmadge announced Sunday from his farm near McRae that he would go before a joint session of the general assembly at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to ask for approval of his plan for a 10-mill over all ad valorem tax limitation.

The chief executive has been invited to address a joint session of the house and senate and he announced that he would make the speech Wednesday morning. The governor is week-ending at his farm and today will go to Savannah where tonight he addresses the annual St. Patrick's Day banquet of the Hibernian Society of Chatham County.

In announcing that he would accept the invitation of the legislature and the hour of the speech the governor made it known that the address would be broadcast over the radio, the situation to be announced later.

Talmadge Going to People.

In putting the speech on the radio Governor Talmadge is doing with this proposal just what he does with all of his policies—going to the people.

The house has passed the Rivers plan for a $5,000 homestead exemption and the senate has substituted for it the governor's limitation program. The amended proposed constitutional amendment was rejected by the house and the matter goes to a conference committee which will be named by Speaker E. D. Rivers of the house, the author of the homestead exemption plan, and Senate President Charles D. Redwine. It is not expected that the conferees will meet until after the house and senate have heard the governor's address Wednesday morning.

In broadcasting the speech the governor is known to feel that if his plan appeals more to the people than the Rivers plan they will call on their representatives in the lower branch of the assembly to agree with the senate amendment and submit the limitation proposal instead of the homestead exemption proposal. Any measure taken to relieve from ad valorem taxes must be submitted to the people in the next general election in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Special Session Promised.

The governor has said that in the event his limitation plan is adopted by the general assembly and approved by the people he will call an extraordinary session of the general assembly immediately after ratification of the amendment and call on it to apply new taxes to take the place of those which have been relieved.

Although the chief executive is known to be opposed to a sales tax at this time, capitol observers feel that in the event there is relief from the tax levied on intangibles, a sales tax of some kind must inevitably result. Speaker Rivers is an outspoken advocate of the sales tax.

Another tax problem is involved in another proposed constitutional amendment on which the house and senate have failed to agree. This amendment would give the next legislature authority to levy a tax on intangible properties.

The amendment as approved by the house merely stated that the next general assembly would have authority to fix a levy on intangibles. The senate amended this resolution to provide a limitation of five mills on these properties and also to divide the yield from the tax between the state, the counties and the municipalities. The senate also proposed that the cities get 40 per cent of the yield, the counties 40 per cent and the state the remaining 20 per cent.

Like the ad valorem relief proposal, this matter is with a conference committee which also will wait until after the governor's Wednesday speech before meeting to settle the tax problem.

Important Matters Face Solons.

Although the tax problem is the greatest confronting the legislature as it enters the final week of its regular biennial session this morning, there are many more important matters yet to be considered.

Chief among these is the general appropriations act which is now before the senate committee on appropriations.

Missing Airplane Is Found in Congo

PARIS, March 17.—(AP)—A missing airplane with Governor-General Edouard Benard, of French Equatorial Africa, his wife and five companions was reported found today in an isolated jungle village in the heart of the Belgian Congo, where it landed presumably without harm to its occupants.

The Fort Lamy radio station reported the plane's own radio had been heard saying it had landed at a place called Mimongo, which was not found on available maps.

Air officials believed the plane landed at Mimongo in the Belgian Congo, on the shores of Lake Leopold.

Messages said fog had forced the plane down. It left Brazzaville, French Equatorial Africa, and his party landed safely in Congo village.

President of Georgia Senate Caught Hard at Work by Gonzalez's Pen

Charles D. Redwine— "A senator may not partake of a meal while addressing the senate, quoth he. . . . Endowed with a kindly look about the eye . . . but lacks none of the well-known 'sterner stuff' . . . Not one 'wishy-washy' item on his face . . ." writes Gonzalez.

The president of the senate pounds heavily with his gavel . . .

The late afternoon sun illumines his resplendent head . . . The clerk wishes the reading of a bill . . . With sing-song regularity Charles D. Redwine recites words required by legislative formula . . .

The gavel strikes once . . . And then it strikes again . . . Actually, in that brief moment, some "fragment of law" is given birth . . . One squint at Redwine and something goes in the statute books . . . And quicker than the pictorial definition of a nose . . . From a vantage point I observe the man nicknamed "Red" . . . There is no denying . . . One cannot escape definite and pronounced features . . . His head is thrust forward and bent . . .

Barbara Insists Her Prince Will Not Get Single Penny

LONDON, March 17.—(AP)—Barbara Hutton Mdivani, $42,000,000 American princess, insisted today that when she gets her divorce from her Georgian prince she will not have to settle a single penny upon him—she is going to have to shift for herself.

"This has been mutually agreed upon," said the princess, who determined herself in Spain and other places in Europe, and oil interests in the United States to fill in a position in the Georgian legation in Paris.

Princess Barbara denied reports that she had ever granted Alexis a separate allowance during her less than two years of married life. She announced last night that she had instructed her lawyer in New York to institute divorce proceedings.

The Woolworth heiress seemed composed today, although she smoked innumerable cigarettes. There had been earlier statements by hotel employees that "she has been on the verge of hysterics" since arriving from Paris.

"We have had to turn everybody away," telling them she was out of town for the week-end," hotel employees had said.

Far from being upset, the princess seemed in the best of spirits when

700 PASTORS HELD AS NAZIS STRIKE AT CHURCH REVOLT

Churches Forcibly In- vaded as Hitler Also Ar- rests Catholic Mother and Shrine Master.

BERLIN, March 17.—(AP)—Seven hundred pastors were arrested or detained today as Nazi officers forcibly invaded Protestant churches throughout Germany to stamp out religious opposition.

Among those arrested was Rev. Martin Niemöller, leader of the Confessional synod which has bitterly fought the Nazi program to unify the German Protestant churches. He was taken to Alexander-Platz police headquarters late tonight.

It was believed the number of those arrested would be much higher when fuller reports came in from the provinces.

These churchmen had defied the violent anti-Nazi manifesto issued by the Confessional church synod a week ago, which caused so much furor in Prussia last Sunday.

Berlin opposition circles received additional reports of 190 arrests of ministers in Silesia and many more in Saxony. Confessional leaders declared the action shows unconquerably that the Nazi authorities are identifying themselves with the "pagan" doctrines of Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, the Reich's philosophic dictator.

The doors of Rev. Martin Niemöller's suburban church in Dahlem were closed when the congregation arrived. They stood around a while and then joined in hearty singing. They chose the hymn, "A Firm Fortress Is Our God."

Twelve pastors were arrested at Magdeburg and five at Halle.

All Prussian Protestant pastors, numbering about 5,000, were warned Saturday not to read the week-old document, issued by the oppositional church synod, which openly deplores the "un-Christian" national socialist regime with the claim it is undermining the religious structure of all Germany.

Many of these pastors refused to obey the request of the secret police that they promise not to mention it today. At least six Berlin pastors who broke their "house arrest" were taken to Alexander-Platz, police headquarters in Berlin. It was expected they would be released Monday.

Nazi officers acted also against the Catholic and Masons. Secret police searched the convent of the Good Shepherd, a large one in north Berlin, and arrested the mother superior and her assistant for reasons which were not announced. Catholics in Berlin were boiling with resentment.

Robot Plane Ready For Pacific Flight

OAKLAND, Cal., March 17.—(AP)—The crew of the Comstock Department's radio compass plane, enthusiastic over its latest performance at sea, prepared today to make another ocean flight but made no announcement as to when it would start or where it would take them.

The plane's big gasoline tanks were refueled but the amount was not disclosed. Weather reports indicated clearing conditions over the Pacific between here and Hawaii, ultimate goal of the plane, but showed fragments of a storm remaining on the course.

James L. Kinney, a member of the Department of Commerce staff, said the projected 400-mile flight to the islands would await auspicious weather. His associates indicated any immediate flight would be a short one.

MANY QUESTIONS STIRRED BY ACTION

France and Russia De- clared Likely To Con- clude Alliance To Offset Germany's Move.

MOSCOW, March 18.—(Monday) (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia said today Germany is making preparations for war and urged a consultation of powers interested in the preservation of peace.

"The moment demands urgent decisions," Izvestia asserted. "Germany has made everything clear regarding her aims. Other powers should make clear their means of defense and protect the cause of peace for Europe and humanity."

Germany, the paper said, suffering a deep economic crisis, "is in a hurry. The determination with which she is ignoring diplomatic obligations is symptomatic of the fact that she is preparing for action."

None can say whether the matter will concern Austria, Danzig or Memel, but there can be no doubt that Germany's latest move forecasts acts of political aggression. In this situation everything depends on whether the powers against whom this action is directed will speedily work out a system of mutual aid to be employed in the case of German aggression.

"If Germany should be made to understand that this system will be enforced, with her participation if she desires and without it if she refuses, then we are convinced she will realize that she is weaker, than the other powers put together."

Pravda's Comment.

The communist party organ Pravda said Hitler had declared the Versailles treaty "a scrap of paper." The authoritative newspaper "Pravda" said it was known Germany was preparing for war even before yesterday's announcement, adding that this was a response for increasing defense measures in the U. S. S. R.

Notice was delivered through the press on Thursday that if England, whose policy is viewed here as aggressive and encouraging to Germany, makes concessions to Hitler, these measures will be still further increased.

"Recent openly aggressive moves of the German nazis," said Pravda, "have been founded on the certitude in Berlin that their success was guaranteed at least for a certain period of time by indecision and fluctuation of English policy."

The paper "for industrialization" showed that "the German nazis" finally removed its mask, said the compulsory service announcement meant simply that German armed forces had been so developed that it was no longer necessary to conceal them.

Intentions Revealed.

The German government reveals its intentions," said the paper. "Nobody ever trusted German declarations of pacifism. There is less reason to trust them now."

"Who can deny that the increase of defensive measures in the U. S. S. R. is due to the fact that the leader of the party in power in Germany proclaimed war against the

Suffering and Want Prove Result Of Unnecessary Carelessness, Delay

Suffering and want is the harvest reaped from carelessness and delay. Have you taken stock of your chances of falling victim into the constantly increasing wave of accidents, and have you protected yourself and your family against what if you should be selected by fate to be killed or maimed in an accident? You can never tell when you'll be the victim of a train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the onrushing wheels of a speeding car, or a burning building. It is your duty to your loved ones to protect yourself and them against just such emergencies—emergencies that happen daily, as you will note by reading the newspapers. The insurance offered you through The Atlanta Constitution is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill., which company has already paid Atlanta Constitution subscribers over $200,000. The insurance is offered to subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of the subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscription going into the home at a small registration fee of 20 cents with application and 10 cents per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1 each per policy per year in advance to subscribers who live in Atlanta and Atlanta suburbs where we have carrier delivery. Out-of-town subscribers can have this insurance by paying $1 per policy per year in advance. This insurance offered through The Atlanta Constitution provides for the payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto, and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $45.35 per month. In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given

DEKALB GATHERING RAPS REPEAL BILL AND URGES VETO

Citizens of the East Atlanta section of DeKalb county, at a meeting held at Moreland Avenue Baptist church Sunday afternoon, passed resolutions condemning the Georgia repeal bill, and also condemning "interests which seek to overthrow, for the personal gain of a few, the reasonable moral restraints which have proven their benefits through long trial in DeKalb county." The resolutions also called on Governor Talmadge to veto the repeal bill, calling it "an unfair bill which does not assure the country people of Georgia the full voice to which they are entitled in the deciding of this important issue which affects all parts of the state alike." W. D. Thomson, Atlanta attorney, who was one of the principal speakers, declared "the time to do our thinking is before we do our voting." He urged the retention of Georgia's present prohibition laws as an aid in keeping the liquor traffic out of the state. Charles D. McKinney, chairman of the Deatur board of education, another speaker, classed the "liquor store" of today with the old-fashioned saloon.

LONG TO TAKE REINS AT PHONE CUT HEARING
BATON ROUGE, La., March 17. (AP)—Senator Huey Long arrived in Baton Rouge late today from Washington and immediately began working on the case he will present in the telephone rate reduction suit set for hearing in local district court tomorrow at 10 a. m. Long returned to Louisiana to defend the recent Louisiana Public Service Commission's state-wide reduction of telephone rates from an injunction suit by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, which claims that the reduction, averaging 20 per cent, is violative of the state and federal constitutions, and of the commission's own rules.

NEW ISSUE RAISED OVER BONUS BILL

Patman Measure Supporters Claim Treasury Backing.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(AP)—A new dispute flared today over whether the Federal Reserve Board governor thought the $2,000,000,000 in new currency which Representative Patman, democrat, Texas, proposes to issue to pay off the bonus would be as sound as other money now in circulation.

With house consideration of the controversial bonus-payment issue but two days off, backers of the Patman bill sent a memorandum to all members quoting the following exchange in a house banking committee hearing: Representative Hancock, democrat, North Carolina: "Then, governor, on the question of soundness, which, in your judgment, is the more sound—a federal reserve note, issued against United States government bonds, or a United States note issued against certain gold reserves?"

Marriner S. Eccles (reserve board governor): "I think they are equally sound." Representative Hancock: "I do not want to involve you in any other legislation, but there are two measures of great importance pending before congress at this time, involving the payment of money. One is known as the Vinson bill and the other the Patman bill, and under the former, bonds likely would be used to secure the currency, whereas under the latter it would be paid with United States notes."

Asked about the exchange, Representative Vinson, democrat, Kentucky, author of the other major bonus bill, said:

"There is no stipulation in the Patman bill that the gold should be used as a reserve against the new currency. No use of gold in the treasury, or even gold certificates, in connection with these new United States notes is even referred to."

His supporters agreed the Patman contention was that the $8,000,000,000 plus in gold now in the treasury would make the currency sound. But they pointed out that $2,000,000,000 of that was tied up in the stabilization fund, and $3,400,000,000 was needed to take up currency which was given to federal reserve banks in exchange for their gold.

An additional $677,000,000, they added, is being used to retire outstanding treasury notes. Therefore, they calculated that there was actually less than $2,500,000,000 in gold available to back the present $5,500,000,000 in currency now in circulation.

All that will be thrashed out on the house floor next week. The rules committee is to meet tomorrow to agree upon the procedure under which the question will be brought before the house. The agreement was to let the house choose directly between the Patman and the Vinson-American Legion bills.

Farley Raps Foes Of F. D. R. Relief Plan

ALBANY, N. Y., March 17.—(AP)—Defeat of President Roosevelt's work relief program, Postmaster-General James A. Farley asserted Saturday, would result in a "whirlwind of loafing" and prolonging the depression.

The democratic national chairman said the "whole question before the country" was whether the Roosevelt program to restore prosperity was to be continued or abandoned.

"No alternate plan that bears the faintest shadow of being practical has been advanced by those engaged in the enterprise of trouble-making," he continued.

"Of course, I know and you know that there are all sorts of harum-scarum ideas of dividing up the wealth of the country, or providing allowances for elderly people in amounts that would bankrupt the treasury and other schemes that would totally wreck the whole theory of a government. They vary only in degree from what has been preached by anarchists and communists all through history."

Farley's address was before a dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

ELECTRIC EYE SEEN AS CURB ON SPEED ALONG HIGHWAYS

MINNEAPOLIS, March 17.—(AP)—A father's anguish three years ago when his 12-year-old son was seriously injured in an automobile accident, has resulted in a new idea in speed control to be given an official test soon by the Minnesota state highway department.

An adaptation of the railroad block signal system, the device involves a "magnetic eye" attached to the front axle of an automobile and a permanently magnetized steel rail imbedded in the highway.

When the car passes over the rail at excessive speed the "magnetic eye" catches an impulse from the magnetized steel and transmits it to a governor, which throttles down the speed of the car to conform to speed limits. Simultaneously a red light attached to the cowling flashes and a musical gong is sounded.

The device was conceived by John J. Huebscher, of Minneapolis, shortly after his son suffered a broken leg, several fractured ribs and internal injuries when caught between a truck and pleasure car.

U. S. JEWISH CONGRESS REVOTES NAZI BOYCOTT

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—(AP)—The American Jewish Congress today adopted a resolution reaffirming support on an anti-Nazi boycott and approved appointment of a committee to investigate "all forms of Nazi propaganda in the United States."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, elected president, to succeed Bernard S. Deutsch, pledged a "vigorous anti-Nazi campaign."

"We will not compromise with Hitlerism," he said. "We will go on until it is banished from the face of the earth."

Louis Lipsky was named vice president of the congress; Nathan D. Pearlman, chairman of the executive committee, and Max Rosenfield, secretary.

INTANGIBLES TAX PARLEY SUCCEEDS

Conference Committees Reach Agreement on Classification Proposal.

Senate and house conference committees late Sunday night reached agreement on a proposal for a constitutional amendment to permit property classification in the taxing of intangibles.

Senator J. M. Simmons, who announced the compromise, estimated the measure as now drawn, if enacted into law, would bring the state additional annual revenue of $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. He said much intangible property was escaping taxation under the present laws.

The levy on intangibles now is on the same basis as for tangible property—an ad valorem five-mill tax which was reduced to four mills by executive order of Governor Eugene Tamm.

In the original house resolution proposing classification of intangibles, no millage limit was set. When the measure went to the senate, it was amended to provide for a five-mill limit with 40 per cent of the revenue allocated to the counties, 40 to the cities and 20 per cent to the state.

The compromise reached last night eliminated the senate's allocation plan. In its place provision was made that the tax on money, notes, stocks, accounts and bonds should be limited to five mills, that one mill should go to the state and that the next legislature should determine how the remaining revenue is to be divided among the local subdivisions.

The proposed constitutional amendment would be voted on in the 1936 elections.

Abyssinia Files Appeal to League

GENEVA, March 17. (UP)—Abyssinia today presented a note to the League of Nations reportedly asking the League council to intervene in the Italian-Abyssinian dispute growing out of border clashes in northeast Africa.

The Abyssinian note is reported to say that direct negotiations with Italy have failed and therefore asks the council to act on Addis Ababa's appeal filed last January. The council suspended action then, pending outcome of the direct negotiations.

PHILADELPHIAN WINS EASTERN BRIDGE CUP

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—B. Jay Becker, of Philadelphia and his teammates captured the Curt H. Reisner trophy and the eastern bridge championships team-of-four contract title today, defeating Waldemar von Zedtwitz's New York team by 4,330 points.

Becker's partners were A. Mitchell Barnes, Sam Fry Jr., and Sydney Rusinow. Playing with von Zedtwitz were Theodore Lightner, Jean Matthews, Sherman Stearns and M. D. Maier.

KATHLEEN NORRIS'S SON IS RESCUED FROM BAY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17. (AP)—Frank Norris, 23, son of Charles G. and Kathleen Norris, noted authors, and two companions were rescued from the cold waters of the Golden Gate today by sea scouts after their small sloop had overturned.

With Norris were Carl Tillman, a fellow medical student, and Miss Mary Snooks, student nurse. The three were nearly exhausted after clinging to their craft for three-quarters of an hour when a sea scout boat took them aboard. All suffered from the cold, but were otherwise unharmed.

MARSEILLE MARKS ASSASSINATION SPOT

MARSEILLE, France, March 17. (AP)—The mayor Marseille dedicated a small bronze plaque today on the exact spot in the street where King Alexander, of Yugoslavia, and Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, were assassinated last October. The plaque bears the single word: "Peace."

Ohio Relief Scandal Brings Threat To Impeach Davey

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 17. (AP)—A threat of impeachment hung over Governor Martin L. Davey tonight. His voice in administration of Ohio relief silenced by a presidential decree, the tree surgeon who mounted the gubernatorial chair only nine weeks ago, faced a fight for his job.

Republican Attorney-General John W. Bricker stood ready to take before a grand jury information Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins asserted was "incontrovertible evidence" that the governor's campaign committee engaged in a "shakedown" of men and business firms who sold goods to the Ohio Relief Administration.

The governor was reported by associates to be "out of town," as Hopkins' personal representative, Charles C. Stillman, arrived from Washington to carry out President Roosevelt's order that Hopkins "assume entire control" of Ohio relief. Impeachment proceedings probably will depend on the outcome of the contemplated grand jury inquiry. The 52-year-old governor was elected last November by 60,000 votes on a platform pledging economy in state government and a wholesale shake-up of the state relief administration.

The man he selected as chief director, William A. Walls, was clipped of authority by Hopkins' action in detailing Stillman to administer Ohio's $10,000,000 relief bill. The state has approximately 1,200,000 of its 6,600,000 citizens on relief.

Senator Robert A. Pollock, of Canton, sounded the impeachment cry shortly after he read Hopkins' charges that Davey's campaign committee solicited money from organizations selling to the relief administration "to help pay off the deficit of your campaign." Hopkins asserted, in a letter to the governor, that the federal government had obtained "signed and sworn confessions of the men who solicited the funds."

Takes Responsibility. Davey, for his part, branded Hopkins' charges as a "rather unskillful effort to divert the attention of the people away from the real issue." That issue, he has said, is his contention that the administration of relief in Ohio is filled with "wastefulness and inefficiency."

Francis W. Poulson, of Cleveland, Davey's personally selected chairman of 30 Cartoons According to the Rules

There is nothing hard about this contest, there are no tricks. You merely select what you think is the best title from a list of titles.

Some people could spend all day with each cartoon and never be able to select a title. Other people, sometimes a child, seem to have a natural knack of grasping the idea in a flash. If you have any natural ability in this sort of puzzle work, BY ALL MEANS CAPITALIZE THAT ABILITY. It might mean $1,000.00 CASH and a new automobile just for an hour's pleasant scanning of 30 cartoons. Get the entire set free today. QUICK VOTE SEEN ON MOSQUE PLAN

John A. White Confident
City Council Will Act
To Accept Offer Today.

Quick approval of the preliminary proposed acquisition of the Shrine mosque and Fox theater properties for use as a municipal auditorium was predicted Sunday by Councilman John A. White at city council's session this afternoon.

As chairman of the council public buildings committee, White will urge acceptance of a plan through which the city may acquire new auditorium facilities simply by pledging the properties themselves and proceeds of rentals towards liquidation of the $725,000 purchase figure.

The preliminary proposal places council directly behind the acquisition of the properties and, when approved, will be followed by an additional measure at the next meeting of council providing for purchase of the properties.

Councilman White and his committee will present a resolution to council which includes the details of the procedure to be followed and which instructs the mayor and city attorney to furnish the necessary papers for consummation of the deal.

He predicted less than half a dozen of council's 20 members will oppose the program, which has the sanction of attorneys representing all parties at interest. A general council vote is all that is required under the plan since the city would not be forced to spend any tax funds or even to pledge the moral obligations of the city in amortization of the purchased price.

Under the plan, the city, it is expected, would absorb the $725,000 over a 20-year period, but if proceeds fail to liquidate the indebtedness within that period an extension would be granted until such time as rental profits discharge the obligation.

Mayor Key has deferred a vacation trip to St. Mark's until after the council meeting, but he is expected to be present to support the undertaking on the council floor.

City Attorney Jack C. Savage evolved the plan after having been instructed to confer with attorneys representing bondholders and those representing public spirited Atlantans who agreed to underwrite the $100,000 cash consideration demanded by sellers. All the lawyers agree that the plan as outlined is legal and would not be subject to successful attack in the courts.

Among other outstanding matters to face council will be the following: 1. Action on the finance committee report on the proposed plan for the former city marshal, for shortages which occurred during his incumbency. The committee will meet this afternoon to consider further its resolution clearing Daniel of all blame. Representatives of Ham Eidsen & Company, certified public accountants, who audited Daniel's accounts, have been asked to attend and bring records. Daniel also has been invited to attend.

2. Recommendations by the city planning commission that council provide $300 for materials to paint street names and house numbers on curb stones if the FERA will supply the labor.

3. Request of Dr. T. F. Abernethy for an appropriation of $500 for a co-operative federal, state and city campaign to eradicate rats.

4. Councilman C. W. Childs' ordinance to provide stringent regulation of junkyard operators.

5. Application of M. A. Baugh to operate an athletic club on Edgewood avenue property owned by the Inman Park Baptist church and now the site of the Inman Park farmers' market.

A citizen's committee, headed by Hugh C. Couch and including Mrs. Max E. Land, Senator G. Everett Millican, W. W. Winter, Dr. Louie D. Newton and A. L. Belle Isle, Sunday issued a statement in which they urged acceptance of the Shrine mosque property.

White reiterated a previous statement that the proposed plan means that the "mosque properties are literally being given to the city, and all council has to do is to pass a resolution accepting them."

"All Atlanta is asked to do is to accept the most generous and unprecedented offer ever presented to any municipality," White said. "I cannot conceive of a single member of the city council objecting to such a magnanimous proposal. I am confident of its success."

DARING AIRMAN
DROPS SUPPLIES TO SNOWED-INS

ORONVILLE, Cal., March 17.—(P) Fifteen gold miners, locked in by a 15-foot snow pack in the high Sierra northeast of here, ate fresh meat tonight for the first time in several days because of a daring airplane flight by Harold Brown, Alameda pilot.

Brown, flying a load of a 1,000 pounds of meat and 200 pounds of mine supplies, darted up a canyon today and dropped the provisions to the miners.

The men, had plenty of other food but had been unable to replenish their meat supply because of the heavy snows.

Plumas Davis, manager of the mine, hiked out 20 miles on skis and made arrangements of bringing the meat and some needed mining supplies in by airplane.

Swooping down within 200 feet of the ground, the pilot and Davis dropped the meat and supplies overboard in 40-pound packages.

11 THEATER PICKETS HELD IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—(P) New Orleans police late today arrested nine men and two women as they picketed a local theater carrying posters protesting the showing of a film picturing changes in Italy under Mussolini.

The 11 were booked on charges of disturbing the peace. They described themselves to police as members of the anti-fascist united front committee.

5 PERSONS INJURED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

MARIANNA, Fla., March 17.—(P) Five persons were injured here tonight in a head-on collision of two automobiles. Four of the injured were reported in critical condition at a local hospital.

Mrs. A. J. Phillips and her infant child, of Chattahoochee, and Mrs. Roy Kroshen, of Chattahoochee, occupants of one car, were hurt as was James R. Bush, of Graceville, who was returning home after completing an enlistment in the navy at Hampton Roads, Va., yesterday.

The adults all were seriously hurt but the baby was only slightly injured.

Irene Rich, Famed on Screen, Stars at Rogers Show Today

Irene Rich, popular screen and radio star, who arrived in Atlanta Sunday, will appear today and Tuesday at the Rogers Stores Food Show and Exposition under the auspices of the Welch Grape Juice Company.

Mrs. Rich is the star of the Welch weekly radio program, "The Beautiful Women Who Will Serve as Models for the Style Revue sponsored by J. P. Allen & Company."

Exposition today will encounter heavy and serious opposition in the person of Irene Rich, famous screen and radio star who will appear at the exposition today and Tuesday.

This Irene Rich person, in the jargon of the newspaper offices, is "real folks," and though she has two beautiful daughters who are almost grown, she has the appearance and all of the vivacity of a debutante. And when that beautiful woman talks, the years fall from her like the petals from a wilted rose, which isn't such an appropriate simile, but is meant to convey the impression that Mrs. Rich doesn't have to depend on her beauty to make her a popular figure.

Mrs. Rich is the sort of person you'd like to sit and chat with for hours. And she would make every minute of the chat one to be remembered.

Bubbles With Enthusiasm.
She is as invigorating as a spring shower and is so folksy that two minutes in her presence makes you a member of the inner circle of the family. She bubbles with interest and enthusiasm and possesses that valuable quality of appearing to be vitally interested in discussions which most women would absorb but in which they wouldn't display the slightest interest. Mrs. Rich is to appear at the exposition under the auspices of the Welch Grape Juice Company and to all appearances is thoroughly sold on the product which she represents on her weekly radio broadcasts. She is so sold on the product she drinks it regularly. Sunday night, when she was submitting herself to an interview, the cozy chat could be so called, when the interviewer was served with a glass of grape juice, in her suite at the Biltmore hotel, she requested a glass. She's such a sincere and above-board person the interviewer was inclined to believe her request was based on a desire for the drink. She drank it with the appropriate gusto.

To Appear in Play.
She is not returning to pictures. Not immediately, that is. First, she's going to appear in a play on Broadway. Maybe the play hasn't been written yet. Mrs. Rich doesn't know. But she does know that sometime there will be a play written that will fit her like a glove and then she will take the leading role in that play. The interviewer is firmly convinced the day is not far off that Mrs. Rich will appear on Broadway and through her thousands upon thousands of movie fans will soon see her again in motion pictures.

Despite her far-reaching appeal, and in spite of the appeal of the J. P. Allen style review, the Georgia Power Company's electric cooking school, which opens at the exposition today, will attract its share of attention.

Miss Gladys Baker, a native Georgian who has gained a national reputation as a home economics expert, will conduct the cooking school. She will impart valuable information to Atlanta housewives not only regarding special dishes, but complete menus.

QUEEN OF DENMARK IS 'RESTING EASILY'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 17.—(P)—Queen Alexandrine, of Denmark, who underwent an emergency operation here yesterday, is resting easily and apparently in no danger, said a bulletin issued at her hospital tonight.

The queen came here for the announcement of the engagement of her son, Crown Prince Frederik, to Princess Ingrid, of Sweden.

THREE ARE KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

HESTON AIRBORNE, England, March 17.—(P)—The three occupants of an airplane were killed when it crashed today just after starting a flight to Paris.

The victims were a Miss Collins, Beaumont Vesey and the pilot, T. O. Hatrick.

REAGAN DEATH CRASH PROBE IS CONTINUED

Mrs. Reagan's Funeral Will Be Conducted This Afternoon at McDonough.

Clayton county authorities Sunday night were continuing their investigation of the automobile crash Saturday morning on the Jonesboro highway three miles below Hapeville in which Mrs. Ed L. Reagan, wife of the popular Henry county representative, was killed.

Charles P. Stewart, operator of a filling station at 872 Peachtree street, was being held in the Clayton county jail at Jonesboro on charges of hit-and-run and no bond had been set for his release pending the outcome of the investigation.

Stewart gave himself up Saturday night to Atlanta police and presented a written statement in which he said he was an occupant of the automobile which figured in the collision Saturday morning with the Reagan car in which Mrs. Reagan was killed. He named as other occupants of the car at the time of the crash Chas. Goddard and Omlee Hagy and through his attorney denied that he was driving the car.

In his statement, Stewart said the car belonged to Dan Deason, who he said was not in the automobile at the time of the crash. In his statement he did not name the driver of the car.

Funeral services for Mrs. Reagan will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the McDonough Presbyterian church. The Rev. J. E. B. Russell, pastor of the McDonough Presbyterian church and the Rev. L. W. Blackwelder, pastor of the First Episcopal church of Griffin, will officiate. Burial will be in the family cemetery at McDonough, with Harold Sims in charge.

Committees from the house and senate of the general assembly will attend the funeral services. The committee named by Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house, is composed of Representatives Roy V. Harris, of Richmond; E. L. Almond, of Fulton; Wiley G. Milam, of Spalding; E. S. Settle, of Butts; A. M. Zellmer, of Monroe; J. W. Culpepper, of Fayette; W. H. Mitchell, of Lamar; Verlyn Booth, of Bartow; and Paul Lindsay, of DeKalb.

The senate committee named by President Charles Redwine, is composed of W. F. Scott, of Thomasville; G. Everett Millican, of Atlanta; J. H. Millhollin, of Broxton; C. K. Vaughn, of Conyers, and W. O. Cooper Jr., of Macon.

An artificial rubber manufacturing plant now being erected in Erivan, Armenia, will produce rubber from limestone and coal by a recently found process.

FLOWER GARDENS

If you are looking forward to the beautiful flowers from your own garden this coming summer, now is the time to prepare. Our Washington bureau has ready for you a bulletin on "Flower Gardens," telling all about when and where to plant flowers, hedges and vines. It tells about perennials and annuals, spring-flowering bulbs, lilies, ferns, evergreen, shrubs, about planting and fertilizing, and all the things you want to know.

President, Wife Celebrate 30th Year of Wedded Life

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(P)—A picnic and a quiet Sunday night supper made the thirtieth wedding anniversary of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt today a typical family holiday.

Both heard good news early in the morning when they were told that Louis Howe, the president's secretary, was better.

Then Mrs. Roosevelt, her daughter, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, and her son-in-law, John Boettiger, went off for a morning canter on the family horses, along a Potomac-viewing bridge path.

They returned to pack the whole family off for a picnic, destination unannounced, into a brick and bracing March combination of sun, wind and cloud.

Such informal expeditions are a frequent Sunday experience with the Roosevelts. At least two tea-houses within a 10-mile radius of the capital are not surprised when a presidential party comes driving up some rainy Sunday afternoon.

Just after dusk the president's uncle and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Delano and Mrs. Dora Delano, came in for the traditional Sunday night scrambled eggs supper around the silver chafing dish that was a wedding gift.

It is when the President and Mrs. Roosevelt sit at table with elders of their clan that the full significance of their 30 years together appears. Their conversation, running a comfortable, full-flavored sweep of timely topics, odd incidents, humorous family experiences, literary allusions, is the kind of table talk that only grows where conversation has been an art for generations.

The president's personality decidedly dominates it. He talks of the whole world, and if necessary to prove a point, he could call for a paper and draw from memory a map of almost any portion of the globe. He talks of past history, and the idiosyncrasies of past personalities, the quirks of politics, stamps, ships, almost anything that comes to mind.

On any conversational trail he happens to take, Mrs. Roosevelt can add her colorful comment. Their conversation together is not confined to remarks with others present. They quietly talk over many things almost every day.

Whole Town Forgets
Date of Election Day
ARGYLE, N. Y., March 17.—(P) Politics play so little part in the life of this up-state town that the voters forgot that Tuesday should be local election day.

As a result of failure to make preparations, Argyle held it necessary to delay its election until March 26.

Gun Kills Boy.
SPOTSWOOD, N. J., March 17.—(P)—Donald Sandusky, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Sandusky, of Jersey City, was killed today when his repeater rifle was discharged as he and four other boys were playing in the woods near the Sandusky summer home here.

MRS. JOHN ARMISTEAD DIES IN HOSPITAL HERE

Member of Prominent Alabama Family Taken to Burial for Funeral.

Mrs. John Armistead, member of one of Alabama's most prominent families, died Sunday morning at an Atlanta hospital. She resided at 1830 Peachtree road.

Mrs. Armistead was the daughter of the late Colonel Walter Moore and Mrs. Moore, who survives her. Her father was the developer of the Warrior coal fields and was a national democratic committeeman from Alabama. Her maternal grandfather was the late William B. Barker, a Birmingham pioneer, who made the first survey of that city.

Reared in Birmingham, Mrs. Armistead came with her husband to Atlanta to reside several years ago and was a prominent figure in Atlanta social life.

She was taken Sunday night to Birmingham, and funeral rites will be held there at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Walter Moore. H. M. Patterson & Son were in charge.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by her husband, a well-known Atlanta businessman; a daughter, Miss Peggy Armistead, a student at Washington Seminary; a son, Walter Armistead, student at North Fulton High school, and a brother, Percy Moore, of Birmingham.

Atlanta-Born Bessie Tucker Owns First Modernistic Home in Georgetown

By Sally Forth.

BESSIE MCKELDIN TUCKER, who was born in Atlanta and spent her childhood here, owns the first modernistic house built in conservative Georgetown, which is a part of Washington, D. C. It is older than the national capital. Mrs. Tucker is Jesse Draper's niece, and her mother is the former Bessie Draper, of Atlanta.

The house is almost ready for occupancy. It is located at 1509 Twenty-eighth street. It is as modernistic inside as outside. The white plaster facade is trimmed with gleaming chromium. It is an English basement building, and the dining room is on the second floor. All the furniture is built in the walls, and modernistic paintings hang on the walls.

A perfect love of a cocktail bar adjoins the dining room. A long drawing room on the second floor is decorated in yellow, and a fireplace is featured at each end. Cleverly concealed cases hide the books encased in less modern jackets, lest the collection mar the modernistic appearance of the room.

There are several homes in staid old Georgetown that contain modernistic rooms, but Mrs. Tucker's home is the first to go modernistic in every respect. Friends of the popular Bessie McKeldin Tucker are on tip toes awaiting the first glimpse of her new home. She is a gracious hostess, and is the possessor of blond beauty. Her father was the late James D. McKeldin, of Atlanta, and her mother married Admiral Leigh Palmer the second time.

MAVIS GOTTHEIMER, that brilliant young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gottheimer, has the enviable distinction of making the dean's list each month since her entrance into Radcliffe College at Cambridge three years ago. As a member of the junior class, Mavis has chosen languages and literature as her favorite studies and her high standard has rated this lovely southerner honors that are coveted by the entire student body.

Graduating from Washington Seminary in the class of 1932, Mavis was awarded a scholarship to Radcliffe and enrolled the following September at this famous institution of learning. Her selection for the honor was most justifiable for one has only to get to her record which reveals the ambitions of this young student.

For a hobby, the talented Atlanta dabbles in modeling and has done some really creditable studies in clay. She possesses a decided flair for writing and her delightful little verses have appeared in Verse Craft and other magazines. Who knows but that this gifted young girl will achieve the fame of Caroline Miller or Edna St. Vincent Millay? Sally, along with her fellow Georgians, happily extend an orchid, a whole cluster of 'em, to Mavis.

AMONG Atlanta's youthful beaux who return from the east to spend the spring vacation at home is Robert DeGivie. He arrives Monday from the Lawrenceville school in New Jersey and will join his mother and sister, Mrs. Julius L. DeGivie, and Miss Mary L. DeGivie, at their Weicua road home. The older son of this prominent Atlanta household, Julius, who is attending the London School of Economics in England's capital city, will spend his spring holidays traveling on the continent. He plans to visit leading cities in France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany and Belgium. However, when the school term ends in June, Julius will sail immediately for his home shores. And recent letters from the Atlanta indicate that Julius cannot arrive soon enough to please him.

While the two masculine members of the DeGivie family have been away at school, Mrs. DeGivie and Mary L. have been tripping.

Talbot, who will accept the gift for the state, while the loyal friends of Wesleyan will feel with their champion, Mrs. H. H. Stephens, that "What ever honor Georgia is entitled to for her great works of improvement and achievement, the crowning point of her glory is that she took and holds the lead of all the world in female education."

Druid Hills Garden Club Makes Plans.

The Druid Hills Garden Club at its meeting on Thursday, made additional plans for the third annual Rose Show to be staged at the Biltmore hotel early in May. The show this year will include in its educational features, exhibits of correct methods of pruning and disbudding roses. The genealogy of the disbud rose, which is the club's specialty, will be presented by Mrs. Charles Le Ronx. There will also be an exhibit of new roses.

Mrs. Calvin Prescott reported the action of the Garden Center concerning the disbud roses. The club is to be zoned and each garden club is to clean up and make attractive the road sides in its community. The main responsibility of the Druid Hills Garden Club is the parkway located at the intersection of Briarcliff road and Ponce de Leon avenue. Mrs. Glenville Giddings, parks and highway chairman, will direct this work for the Druid Hills Garden Club.

Plans were made for the sale of gladiolus bulbs as a money-making project for the club. Bulbs may be ordered from Mrs. J. B. Whitely at Decatur 2011. The price is $1.20 for 50 bulbs, or 60 cents for 25 bulbs.

Mrs. John Stewart, of the Habersham Garden Club, gave a helpful talk on the sale of gladiolus bulbs. Points brought out at the school of judging held recently at the Biltmore hotel.

W. N. Cochran, horticulture chairman, presented a paper on "My Success in Sowing Seed."

Mrs. W. N. Cochran was hostess at the meeting at her home on Clanton road. Thirty members were present.

Mrs. J. C. Kuser Jr., of Strawberry Hill, Titusville, N. J., was an attractive guest. Mrs. Kuser is a member of the show committee of the Garden Club of America.

Madam Thea Marsi Is Honor Guest At Informal Party

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strauss Jr., entertained at an informal aperitif party on Sunday afternoon at their home on Rosedale road, as a complimentary gesture to Madam Thea Marsi, of Vienna, Austria, who is among the attractive visitors spending several days in Atlanta. Guests were received in the living room of the charming white clapboard home by Mr. and Mrs. Strauss, in which moonlight-blue and silver-predominate in the decorative scheme.

In the dining room, which was treated in white and red, the table was overlaid with a white satin damask cloth, and centered with elaborate vases filled with white flowers. Mrs. Strauss was gowned in French blue crepe, trimmed with dark blue ribbon. Madam Marsi, whose beauty is of the blond type, wore a costume of midnight blue wool. Her hat was a chic sailor model of blue straw which rolled at each side, and was bound on the edge with midnight blue ribbon. Her shoulder bouquet of gardenias completed her effective costume.

Madam Marsi, a native of Vienna, and the possessor of the charm and beauty for which Vienna women are famed, arrived in America several weeks ago. She is a fluent linguist, and speaks English without an accent. She is making her second visit to Atlanta, having been here about a year ago. She owns her own millinery salon in Vienna, being the designer for hats that suit the local climate. Her appearance at Rich's today, tomorrow and Wednesday takes place in the military salon.

Delphians Present Guest Day Program

An interesting guest day program was given by the Beta Chapter of Delphians on Wednesday in the Studio Art Club. A special musical program was arranged in which Mrs. Eugene Brisbane rendered "Goodbye, Sweet Day" (Bannan), and "The Star of Bethlehem." Accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Nell Jensen. Another musical selection, "The Spinning Chorus," from "The Flying Dutchman," was rendered by a quartet composed of Mesdames Carter Harrison, C. Douglas, E. R. Epperson and Mark L. Craig, accompanied at the piano by Miss Lily Allen.

The literary program, "Figures of the Italian Renaissance," was in charge of Mrs. Lawton Kirkland. Mrs. Hoke Shirley gave the preparatory discussion, "Great individuals of the Renaissance." "Medieval Rome" was given by Mrs. Mark L. Craig; "The Kingdom of Naples," by Mrs. A. Burdell; "Renaissance Standards," by Mrs. J. O. Mangum; "Beatrice d'Este and Isabella d'Este," by Mrs. Lee Wisdom; "Vittoria Colonna," by Mrs. Carter Harrison; "Lucrezia Borgia," by Mrs. J. O. Mangum; "The Renaissance," by Mrs. J. T. deLesseigne; "Savonarola," by Mrs. E. R. Epperson.

Others present: Mesdames Charles D. J. O. Mangum, Emmet White, Thomas H. Thompson, W. S. Johns, Charles H. Turner, P. A. Herzog, Andrew S. Marshall, Perry Gail, Mrs. J. O. Mangum, "Beatrice d'Este and Isabella d'Este," by Mrs. Lee Wisdom; "Vittoria Colonna," by Mrs. Carter Harrison; "Lucrezia Borgia," by Mrs. J. O. Mangum; "The Renaissance," by Mrs. J. T. deLesseigne; "Savonarola," by Mrs. E. R. Epperson.

Oglethorpe Class To Present Play.

Dion Boucault's play, "Streets of New York," will be presented by the play production class of Oglethorpe University on March 20.

The players have been working earnestly for many weeks under the direction of Frank Harrison, who entered the university last fall as a professor of English and dramatics.

The play, an intriguing melodrama in five acts, covers the period from 1837 to 1860. The part of the heroine, Lucy Fairweather, is portrayed by Byrd Strickland; the hero, Mark Livingston, by F. W. Chisholm; and the villain, Alida Bloodgood, by Eloise Polak. John Shannon and Jack Horner, who take the parts of the villain, Gideon Bloodgood and a reformed villain, Badger, respectively, also have strong parts.

Others in the cast who have minor roles are Sara Barnes, Joel George, Lyman Aldrich, Dorothy Sweeney, Ralph Thacker and Leontes McDuffie. The costuming will be supervised by Mrs. Enrichetta Patten; the lighting, by James Heist, Mrs. Emily Gaertner and Edna Studdwell, will plan the effective scenery.

Purim Ball Will Be Given At Shrine Mosque March 20

Arrangements have been completed for the 45th annual Purim ball of the United Hebrew school, to be given in the Egyptian ballroom of the Shrine mosque on Wednesday evening, March 20, it was announced Thursday by Major Ralph Willner, general chairman of the event.

The elaborate ball commemorates the Jewish festival of Purim, when the beautiful Queen Esther won for her people a respite from persecutions and intolerance. The festival itself is an occasion for masquerading and merry-making and the annual Purim ball sponsored by the Hebrew school is always looked forward to with keen interest and anticipation.

Plans for this year's event will outline those of former years, according to officials in charge. A leading orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and several new attractions will be seen. Entire proceeds from the ball go toward the maintenance of the United Hebrew school, a public institution where Jewish children may receive religious instruction during the afternoons. Last year more than 1,000 tickets were sold to the ball and the present committee hopes to surpass this number.

Heading committees of more than 50 men and women are Major Willner, chairman; Sam Gershon, vice chairman; Joseph Goldberg, treasurer; J. H. Rodbell, secretary, and David Gershon, recording secretary.

National Women Voters Meet In Washington, D. C., in May

With a program emphasizing the urgent need for better trained personnel in public service, and for immediate reorganization of antiquated state systems, the general council of the National League of Women Voters meets in Washington May 7 to 10. Sessions will be held at the Hotel Washington. A hundred leaders from 38 states will participate.

Program topics, which include executive meetings on the league's current topics in their relation to current governmental problems, are being drafted in Washington by the bureau of Miss Anna Lord Strauss, New York city; Mrs. Augustus M. Roan, Atlanta, Ga.; and Mrs. Quincy Wright, Chicago, Ill. The meeting is a biennial gathering, alternating with the league's national convention. The council attendance is limited to two representatives from each state league organization.

Additional national officers, who will make up the council body, include: President, Miss Marguerite M. Wells, Minneapolis, Minn.; first vice president, Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin, Washington, D. C.; second vice president, Mrs. Royal G. Whiting, Boston, Mass.; secretary, Miss Anna Lord Strauss, New York city; treasurer, Mrs. Elsie A. Zinsmeister, Louisville, Ky.

Regional directors are Mrs. Paul C. Savage, Bangor, Maine; Mrs. David Chandler, Prince, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Augustus M. Roan, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Arthur N. McGee, Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. E. W. Shepard, Harard, S. D.; Mrs. F. Van Buren, Kirk, Columbia, Mo.; Mrs. O. Sheple, Barnum, Pasadena, Cal.

Department chairmen include Mrs. Walter Greengard, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. George B. Mangold, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, Webster, Groves, Mo.; Mrs. Beatrice Pitts, Lumb, New York city; Mrs. Edith Valet, Cook, New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Elwood Street, Washington, D. C.

MAIDEN VOYAGE

By Kathleen Norris

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Antoinette Taft, 28, and attractive, is the new society editor of the San Francisco Call, and is delighted with her job, after months of job-hunting. She lives with her sister, Brenda, her two brothers, Cliff and Bruce, and Aunt Max, in a comfortable old top-floor apartment. On the Call is a blond named Jess Carter, who gets a large salary and keeps up a fine apartment at which Frank Pitch, the managing editor, is frequent visitor. When Jess asks her to make one of a dinner party there, Tony goes to her friend, Brenda, for advice. This results in a proposal, the last thing Tony wants. Sent to report a carnival at Piedmont, she meets a girl, Bella, and is astonished and thrilled to find that her husband, signed on the first page. Besides it is another exclusive story—the Journal-Examiner merger place—which, in her excitement, she doesn't see until she phones to Ruth about something else, and Ruth tells her in publication has ruined Larry's plans. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

“Well, I wish to high heaven the whole crowd of them was in the bay! Why couldn't they leave him alone! Frank Pitch isn't their kind; don't you think for one minute I'm the only woman he ever looked at! And don't think that there aren't other papers ready to jump at my feature, if it's crazy enough to let it go!”

“He didn't say anything about stopping the column,” Bess fumbled in her bag; the evidence was there. A letter from the president's office to say that the Call was retrenching and must make some changes on the editorial page; another letter that said, “Sorry, but I did my best for you and both Davidson and Arnoldson turned me down.”

This letter was signed merely with a pencil “F.” Tony had seen many of the managing editor's notes to the staff signed that way. She looked questioningly, expectantly, at Bess.

“You don't think I'm going to stand for it?” Bess demanded.

“It's a shame,” Tony said with a warning she did not feel. She knew that Bess had not contributed one single valuable line or idea to the newspaper in all the months of her work there.

“He can't get away with it.”

“Did he say anything about it the last time you saw him?”

“I think so.”

He never praised. But she knew how pleased he was when he said, with a look that was almost a wink, “All right. That'll make up for some of the rotten stories you've been turning in.”

“I suppose so,” said Tony in superb scorn. “I'm about the best special editor you ever had a chance to bully, Greeny,” she told him.

“But you won't get any hospital story for me, will you?”

“I don't want to,” she said.

“I do not!” It reminded her of Larry and the comforting hour beside him that afternoon. “By the way,” she said, “you followed up my little city hall story; here's something that may interest you: Lawrence Bellamy is going over to the Examiner with the Journal.”

“What Journal?” Greenwood's voice was as swift as a bullet.

“There's only one, Lawrence Bellamy's Journal. The Journal of Commerce and Business.”

“Who said so?”

“He did. I know him and his wife quite well. He's coming today and he told me. They're going to have a weekly supplement and then he's to do a daily column.”

The enigmatic slightly impish face of Charles Greenwood went suddenly blank.

“Got your Sunday column in?” he asked.

“Hour ago.”

“I'm going with Van to get some oysters.”

The lights of Market street were caught in the long lines of the softly falling rain; the pavements glittered black; the air was deliciously fresh to Tony's lungs. She and Van Florence had their oysters; Van talked about a girl named Frances. Tony ate the hot heartening food and thought her own thoughts. Barney Kerr wanted her to go to dinner with his family in Piedmont on Sunday; she did not want to go. On Saturday trip home, Barney would ask her again to marry him; he was constantly asking her now, or rather he was giving her those strong hints that mean a man is anxious to put the direct question to the test again. None of it seemed significant any more, or even interesting. Tony couldn't take it seriously; she couldn't take seriously anything that wasn't the newspaper office and the old typewriters, lounging or excited men, the atmosphere of blue smoke and ink and pencil dust. And tonight she had to keep coming back to the warm little secret memory of that moment with Larry in the hall.

When she reached home she told Brenda that she was not going to the Kerrs on Sunday.

“I haven't seen him since Saturday.”

“And this is Thursday—” Tony said slowly, sparing for time. “She's probably persuading him to go back to his wife.”

“Well,” the younger woman's face flushed uncomfortably in spite of all that she could do. “It seems funny,” she said feebly.

“Frank's always had a tremendous opinion of himself,” Bess said from smoldering thought; “now this Sunshine Gospel thing fits right in and he's going to be a white-headed angel. Lucky for him he didn't get converted three years ago when he and I first were friends—here he is!”

Tony, looking across the swinging lights and littered desks, saw Mr. Pitch slipping quietly through to his own office. Bess was immediately after him; the various men grinned significantly as she went absorbedly, with her fine feathers somewhat dragged by the past and her rouged cheeks redder than even her own bold artifice had made them. She was breathing hard and angrily; she saw nobody. The door of Mr. Pitch's office closed behind her.

When Tony went up to Mr. Greenwood's desk a few minutes later he gave her an impish and significant smile.

“Fireworks in the old man's office, eh?”

“Sounds like it.”

“Oh-h-h, everything. They're going to cut the feature.”

“I heard that. Well, Bess'll take care of herself.”

“She's paying 200 for that apartment.”

“We're paying her a hundred a week,” the city editor said musingly.

“Well, if he says she's to get out, she'll surely get out.”

“Could he keep her if he wanted to?”

“Sure he could.”

The sound of a woman's raised angry voice came from Pitch's office; then they could hear his placating murmur.

“Landed the Porter engagement, did you?” Greenwood asked in sudden excitement as he glanced at the social notes.

“Yep. I talked to them both. But at the same time,” Tony smiled, spoke with delicate significance, “the announcement will come in the nature of a surprise to them.”

“Scooped it?”

“I think so.”

He never praised. But she knew how pleased he was when he said, with a look that was almost a wink, “All right. That'll make up for some of the rotten stories you've been turning in.”

“I suppose so,” said Tony in superb scorn. “I'm about the best special editor you ever had a chance to bully, Greeny,” she told him.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

Dew forms on grass in the same way that “sweat” does on the sides of a glass of cold water. On clear nights, stones, grass and other objects lose their heat rapidly by radiation to the sky. This makes these objects colder than the air about them; therefore the moisture in the air condenses on them just as the moisture of one's breath condenses on a cold window pane. Some of the moisture may rise from the earth itself, and condense on the dew. But the dew will be rising rather than falling. On cloudy nights, the amount of heat radiation is less and does not lower the temperature of the objects sufficiently to cause condensation on them.

STRANGE WAYS OF INDIA.

1.—The People.

Hindus look upon Benares as the most holy city in India. It is the home of about 200,000 persons; and close to a million pilgrims visit it each year.

Nine-tenths of the people of India dwell on farms, or in villages. It is a country of farmers and farmers. There are vast rice fields, and rice is of great importance as a food. Millet and wheat are other great food crops.

The people of India number about three times as many as those in the United States; but they live in a country less than two-thirds as large as the United States.

It is correct to use the name “Indians” when we speak of the people of India. We may call them the true Indians. Native of North and South America were called Indians by mistake, when white men came to the new world not quite four and a half centuries ago.

The skins of the natives of India are of brownish color. The shades run from deep, dark brown to light brown. In part, the people arose from the same stock as those of Europe. Long ago, Aryan invaders crossed the mountains to invade India; and conquered those who were living there. The invaders made their homes in the country they had won.

Woman's Board Of Oglethorpe To Meet Tuesday

Mrs. Willis Westmoreland has issued a call for the midwinter meeting of the woman's board of Oglethorpe University. This meeting will be held in the assembly room of Lupton hall on the campus of the University on Tuesday afternoon, March 19, at 3 o'clock.

First on the program will be an entertainment by the university glee club. Sterling Lanier will have charge of this feature, which promises to be a real treat for the members. Business of importance will be transacted and plans made for the part the board is to take in the coming commencement season.

Mrs. T. C. Perkins, library chairman, announces that it is library day when members are privileged to make their annual gifts to the library in the form of suitable books, and if one needs assistance in getting these books to the university to please call her, Room 628.

Members will be given an opportunity to inspect the new equipment in the chapel and the girls' lounge, which has been put in by the efforts of the mothers' committee under the leadership of the chairman, Mrs. Robert P. Sweeney.

Following the program, the president, Mrs. Westmoreland, and the university will entertain the members and the students at a tea in the library.

Friendly Counsel By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: I was born into a poor and humble family. My father drank and mother had to make her way by going out to sew by the day. Sometimes she had to take me along because there was nobody at home to look after me. Her best customer was a lady who impressed my childish mind as being everything a great lady should be. And there I resolved that even though I got into that house as a favor to my poor mother, someday I would be a great lady and have such a home of my own. Well, I am now twenty-two and while there is no present prospect of the fairy castle I have made some progress toward being a lady. My mother lives at home in comparative comfort. I have been successful in business and support her as well as myself. Thinking it over I would like to hear your opinion of what constitutes ladyhood. Please write a column on this subject. — HANDICAPPED.

ANSWER: First of all, golden qualities of heart constitute ladyhood. "Heart of the heart" is the issue of "life," golden qualities pretty nearly cover the ground. Each of us has individual ideas about what are the most attractive features of gentility. For instance, I know a woman who says she marks a lady up or down by the way her hands look and the way she uses them. I know another who emphasizes the quality and tone of the voice and still another who counts correct English the all important feature of gentility. These are certainly little things that show which way the wind of ladyhood blows. But they are straws.

"Noblesse oblige," say the French, and herein lies one of the basic qualities of true gentility. One may have the bluest blood in her veins, a background that includes wealth and education and yet treat those of less privilege in such a way that people think of her as being a coarse woman. Kindliness that issues in courtesy to family, friends, acquaintances; the butler, the baker, the candlestick maker, is the supreme proof of ladyhood. True lady is never unkind of the feelings and sensitivities of those around her, even her servants. Rudeness is a crime for which there can never be any excuse.

Dignity and reserve are also important features of gentility. The aggressive woman who talks on top of everybody's voice and rams her opinions down everybody's throats and butts into everybody's business without regard for anything or anybody but herself is essentially vulgar. How the men hate her type!

A distinguished dramatic critic in an estimate of Leslie Howard, stage and screen star, says his genius consists largely in his ability to dramatize good taste. Wonder if the genius of ladyhood doesn't lie near this point? While it is not the business of a lady to dramatize herself, it is her instinct to show good taste, good taste in her relationships, in her home, in her clothes, in her manner of living, even down to the way she walks on the streets, sits in a chair, uses her hands, and in what she says, in the quality of her voice and the choice of her words.

A lady knows how to put the brakes on. When she is angered she controls her temper and her tongue. When she is in pain she doesn't cry out. When she is delighted she doesn't indulge in raucous laughter. When she is disappointed and heartless she doesn't make life unendurable for those around her. When she is rich she isn't disgustingly extravagant and when she is poor she isn't bitter and resentful. Good taste is about nineteenth-century restraints and people who haven't self-control are guilty of the worst sort of taste. No woman can lay claim to ladyhood unless she has learned that great lesson of life.

Of course education contributes richly to ladyhood. "Reading makes a man full," wrote Bacon. Books do for a woman's mind what fertilizer does for a rose bush. The rose will bloom and grow after a fashion on what it can extract from the native soil. But the fertilizer fed to the rose makes it double its growth and triple its bloom. Even instincts need educating, much more the mind. Those who grow up in homes

KEEP YOUR HUSBAND'S LOVE

THE best of men get tired of irritable, complaining wives. If you are weak, nervous and rundown you cannot do your share to make a happy home. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

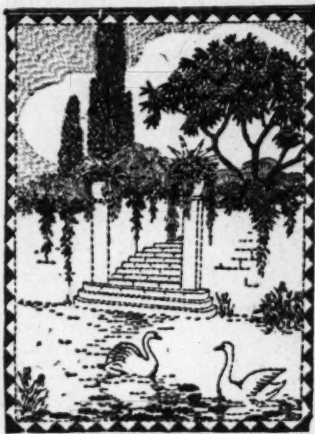

Mrs. Barbara Spears of Akron, Ohio, says, "I had no pep, and was in poor spirits. Your Vegetable Compound eliminated that awful tired feeling. My husband says I am my old self again."

where parents are educated, where books are a part of daily living, start out with a fine fortification for life. Those who haven't such a heritage are likely to underestimate the importance of the refining influence of books. The chances are that the difference between the great lady who employs a seamstress to come to work for her and that seamstress lies in the fact that the one had had books in her home for several generations and the other was a stranger to books. The great handicap in this world is not poverty but ignorance. The man or woman wanting to come up in the world finds education the open sesame to the doors at which her or she stands knocking.

COLORFUL HANGING INTERESTING NEEDLEWORK

Solve the problem of decorating your walls by using this wall hanging; they are very popular now. Aside from its beauty when finished, this one offers the needlewoman much pleasure in the making. The garden wall, covered with flowers in all hues, the tree with its colored blossoms—all lend interest to the picture. The decorative trees, silhouetted against the sky, make a striking background. The swans offer a charming touch of life and grace to the water, studded with flowers. But, as a needlewoman, you'll be most interested to know that only the simplest of stitches are used in this hanging.

In pattern 5320 you will find a transfer pattern of a hanging 15x20 inches; a color chart; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed; directions for making the hanging.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (not preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

Reception Planned For Grandmothers In Hapeville

The grandmothers of Hapeville will be honored at the annual reception sponsored by the Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, March 21, at 3 o'clock at the city auditorium. Every grandmother in Hapeville is invited to attend, as well as everyone interested in the club. Mrs. Roger Williams, president of the club, will be official hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Fulghum, vice president, and other officers and members.

Mrs. Frank Wells will welcome the guests of honor. Mrs. J. L. Fulghum will read the club collect and give comments of interest. Little Miss Mary Frances Hodges and Mildred Warren will interpret dances.

Other interesting features of entertainment will be enjoyed. Those desiring transportation may call Mrs. Williams, Calhoun 1875; Mrs. Raymond Cathy, Calhoun 1844, or Mrs. C. M. Copeland, Calhoun 2055.

At a business meeting of the club on Thursday, Mesdames Reuben Arnold, T. R. Miller and Henry White were appointed members of nominating committee to select officers for ensuing year.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The Coming Battle.

Next Monday night will mark a milestone in my bridge career. Mrs. Culbertson and myself will be seated opposite Mr. and Mrs. P. Hal Sims, of Deal, N. J., prepared to play the first hand in 150 rubbers of contract bridge stipulated for a 21-day match. Nothing I have done before seems as momentous as this contest. To me it is a million-dollar match for upon it I am staking reputation, system, career and partnership skill.

In Mrs. Culbertson, my favorite bridge partner, I have the utmost confidence. Her playing ability has many times been demonstrated under trying conditions and never found wanting. She will be equal to all emergencies.

We approach this colossal contest buoyed by no false hopes. We do not underestimate the playing ability and strategy of the Sims' game. The route will be long and the match, tough. The run of the cards may go against us for a time but with more than 1,000 hands to play, we can rely upon the law of averages to give us our share of winners.

CAREFUL DEFENSE.

On the hand below a slam contract was defeated by a brilliant shift into one of the declarer's suits at Trick 2 by the North player.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figure after bid refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

West	North	East	South
2♠	Pass	2NT	Pass
3♦	Pass	3NT	Pass
4♦	Pass	4♠	Pass
5♠	Pass	6♠(1)	Pass

1—East has made nothing but minimum responses up to this point. The possession of the king-queen of clubs, three trumps to the ten-nine and a doubleton diamond justifies the acceptance of partner's slam try.

The Play.

With North's holding there is no better lead against the slam contract than the club ace. This lead, only, would defeat the contract despite perfect play by the declarer.

When the club ace held, North was faced with a problem. His partner had discarded the deuce on this trick, leaving only the jack and nine outstanding. North figured his partner's deuce was not a singleton as it was hardly possible for declarer to do so much bidding, holding three clubs to the jack, North accordingly had to look for another lead. With nothing but worthless small cards in spades and only ten-high in diamonds, the setting trick had to come in hearts but to shift to that suit immediately might give declarer a free finesse.

North only hoped West could not get to dummy. That situation would develop if South had only three trumps to the jack. The trump shift was discarded to allow for this possibility as a spade lead with the ten-nine in dummy would create an entry. North led a diamond right into declarer's rebid suit as the safest possible lead. Declarer was marked with five in that suit probably as good as the ace-king, and therefore any honor in the South hand would drop any way and the lead would not sacrifice a trick.

Declarer won in his own hand and drew two rounds of trumps. He then played out another diamond hoping to enter dummy by ruffing the third one and obtaining a heart discard. South, however, with only two diamonds and three spades to the jack, was able to overruff the third diamond lead, and the contract was defeated by North's very sound shift.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

North and South vulnerable.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

(Painted by Roschelle Hudson.)

It Is Possible to Do Away With Dress Shields and Here Is How

By MIGNON.

I used to think it impossible to do without the rubbery dress shields, which, no matter how silken or how small, invariably are obnoxious to a woman of delicate taste. Some years ago I had a new gown which I wanted to take special care of and I stepped up to a notion counter to get the smallest, least rubbery and most effective shields. The little girl behind the counter looked at me and, although she sold them, she said: "Why do you wear them? I think they are terrible! Washed every day, they still have a rubber odor that is anything but agreeable."

She convinced me that with proper care in a few weeks I'd find that I didn't need them. It seemed ridiculous then but she was right and I've never stopped being grateful to her for her look of contempt when I asked for them.

I followed her directions. I used a liquid designed to stop perspiration under the arms, first used it every other night, then three times a week, then twice a week, and now only once a week and sometimes not for 10 days. It works like a charm.

Of course, if you are in a hot climate, where it is damp and you should perspire, it's not a good idea to try to stop entirely. It is not pleasant to have your back perspire, especially when you are wearing a thin, delicate gown, but in warm weather that will happen to most of us. If it's possible you should have a thin yoke put in the back of summer dresses. Even chiffon ones will help, and they will absorb the perspiration before it stains the dress.

But you can prevent under-arm perspiration. I wouldn't use anything too strong or you will regret it. And whatever you do, don't use any kind of liquid to stop it immediately after shaving. You should wait at least 24 hours so that the skin will not be delicate or have any abrasions. It is advisable to use a weaker liquid often rather than use a strong one and get a burn or an infection.

Do not put your clothes on until the liquid has dried. I usually dust a good unscented talcum on the arms even then before putting on a dress. Never put perfume over a nonperspiring liquid.

Care is the thing most women need and a little thought on the subject of cosmetics. I can tell you of the kind of liquid I am using if you care to know.

Lillian Mae Patterns

How I Keep My Figure

By BETTY FURNESS

COLOR CONTRAST IS HIGH FASHION NOTE.

Pattern 2216.

Sharp color contrasts are one of the season's outstanding fashion contributions. It took Lillian Mae to fashion this frock to carry the contrast in a brand new way. Don't you love the way she emphasizes the deep sleeve line? And the waistcoat effect of the bodice? Not to mention the nice pleated skirt. Two shades of the same color are particularly good in this dress—as navy and light blue, or you may go to any extreme you like, such as gray and yellow. Navy and white make a smart combination, as does a plaid and solid color, and, of course, you may choose to make it up entirely in one color. Suitable fabrics are linen, pique, broadcloth, seersucker or heavy silk crepe.

Pattern 2216 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3-3-8 yards of 36-inch fabric and 2-2-8 yard contrast.

NANCY PAGE

Spring Styles Are Tricky in Their Color Combinations.

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

Nancy and Lois went clothes shopping. Nancy knew she needed a new suit. Lois wanted to look at new hats. Both women adored shopping for, and looking at, clothes, so they set off in high spirits.

Nancy's attention was caught by a smart-looking suit with a skirt of dark blue and a coat of red. The combination was "new, chic, extremely good," according to the sales person.

"Many of our suits this year have a coat of one color and a skirt of another. These the blouses may be varied to suit the occasion."

"But there are difficulties with this red and blue," said Nancy. "I don't want to wear dark blue blouses, only. I surely don't want a red one, although a red check might do. If I choose a white one then I look like 'three cheers for the red, white and blue.' I suppose I could use chamamois color with this suit but I am not sure chamamois color in blouses will be becoming. Of course the gloves and other accessories are good in chamamois. I suppose blue shoes are the right thing to wear with this suit. Of course they would be dark blue. Dark blue gloves could be selected, too."

"If you don't like that combination would you consider a brown and green one, Madam?"

"Here is a brown coat and a deep green skirt." "I am afraid not. I would need a brown top coat and I don't own one. I suppose I could use a gray or a tan one, but somehow that makes the whole thing look sooty. It is some trick, isn't it, to combines the different colors in an effective and satisfying way. Let me think it over."

Lois looked at hats. She decided that most of them were planned for young girls. The pillbox type seemed too childish for her and made her cheeks too round. The poke bonnet called for demure youth, but the off-the-face one she selected was just right because her skin was still young and fresh looking and because her forehead was as unlined as though she never had known a care. She liked the hat immensely. So did Roger.

Does your mind consider reducing when you look at new clothes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Nancy Page, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Ask for her "Reducing" leaflet.

REAMS of paper have been filled with descriptions of bird calls. Most of this attention has been given to song birds. There are all sorts of methods of transmuting the bird calls, none of which have been even satisfactory to me. The bare words don't mean anything in place of the warbling and trilling of the birds themselves. The calls of night birds, on the other hand, have not been given the attention they merit.

There is a fascination about the night birds that cannot be long resisted by anyone. The owls take the premier position in nocturnal bird life, of course, and they are nowhere as abundant as the diurnal or day-flying birds. This is true just as it is in the case of mammals and is one of the fundamental laws of ecology. It may be stated in this way—a species is abundant in any locality in direct proportion to the available food supply. The same thing works out in predator relationships. There will always be fewer foxes than field mice. Watching the owls, then, is a difficult job and there is a decided limit as to the extent of studies it is possible to make by direct observations. Great parts of life histories have to be filled in from the laboratory and zoological research.

The great horned owls of Michigan, for example, are nesting in late winter, before the snows have stopped falling. I once knew a fellow who was working out the life history of this species and he had to be in the field under all sorts of conditions, just because the owls would insist on nesting much too soon for the comfort of struggling zoologists. The great horned owl is one of the largest of our night birds, and the most bloodthirsty killer of all owls. It is the one that has cast so much shame on the other owls, in the minds of sportsmen who reason that any owl is a quail-killer if the great horned owl is. This owl is a marauder of the chicken yard. His great wings move him about silently as the passage of light. His habit is to perch upon some prominent stub or post, locate by sight or sound his prey, and then to swoop down on it and lynch it before it is well aware of danger. Many a night I have started out of my blankets on hearing the death scream of a rabbit in the talons of the horned pirate of the night.

Death is quick and merciful, however, the sharp talons pierce the lungs and the powerful beak strikes stunning blows at the base of the skull. There is no slow torturing of the prey as is true of some mammalian predators. The horned owl may be a pest, but he cannot conceal admiration for the powerful bird. I say, with an idea of being challenged, that I wish they were more plentiful.

Stewart-Huey.

The marriage of Miss Martha Stewart and William J. Huey was solemnized on February 16 at St. Anthony's rectory, in West End. Rev. Father H. J. Diemel performed the ceremony. The ceremony was witnessed by a few close friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Huey left for Athens, where Mr. Huey is connected with the government in the department of agriculture.

MUSICAL PROGRAM IS OFFERED FRIDAY BY 'UKELELE CLUB'

"Happy Ukelele Club," of Glennwood school, Decatur, will present a musical revue next Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mrs. J. Frampton King, director, has arranged a program of songs and dances of Italy, Ireland, Scotland, Spain, China and Japan. Mrs. Maynard Saunders will be the piano accompanist. Proceeds will be used by the welfare department of the Glennwood P.T. A. Admission is 10 cents.

A benefit bridge-luncheon will be sponsored by the P.T. A. Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Decatur Woman's Club. Mrs. O. L. Amisler and Mrs. W. B. Thomas are in charge of reservations.

H. A. Carter, of The Constitution and the state game and fish department, addressed the Glennwood P.T. A. last Wednesday on "The Relation of Humane Education to the True Spirit of Learning."

St. Anthony's Guild.

The ladies of St. Anthony's Guild will present a picture, "King of Kings," Tuesday, March 19, at 2:30 o'clock for the children, and at 8 o'clock for adults in the church auditorium at Ashby and Gordon streets. Tickets are 10 cents and 25 cents.

Barnett-Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Barnett announce the marriage of their daughter, Tommie Lee, to Glenn D. Hicks. The marriage took place February 1, with Rev. Eugene Steele performing the ceremony.

Internationally Known Riders To Enter Six-Day Race Here

Our first six-day bike race will start whirling down at our town hall on the evening of March 29 and I would not be surprised if Atlanta does not take to it with some enthusiasm.

The town which produced Bobby Walthour has never seen a six-day bike race. And while they seem to be very daffy spectacles indeed—teams of men riding madly around a circular track for six days, 144 consecutive hours—going nowhere at all in a very great hurry—they are spectacles just the same.

Our town produced John Chapman, the czar of the bike game, who early learned that the cream of the bike game was in the promotion end of it. So he quit riding and began promoting. He was a former newsboy once, carrying The Constitution. And now he is a comfortable millionaire.

At any rate the town which produced one of the greatest riders in the world and the greatest bike race promoter the world ever knew, is going to see its first bike race. I rather like the idea.

It will, for instance, provide some place to go other than the all-night restaurants and drugstores. And that is something, you will admit.

They are going to build that track at our town hall and it will be rather precipitous. Which means some of the boys will slide off it and fall on their heads. This is always considered good, clean fun to be compared with a prize fighter being knocked on his ear and lying on the canvas quite unconscious. We will pay to see such things and so the danger of the track will mean more money at the gate, especially if some of the boys are so unfortunate as to go plunging off and land very hard on their heads.

Young Bobby Walthour is coming here to ride and that will make a good feature. You may look for pictures of Old Bobby and Young Bobby and some features about them. John Chapman is not managing this race, but it will include some of the riders from his recent Madison Square Garden whirl. The field starts this week in Chicago.

The teams, for your information, are composed of two men each. One rides while the other gets his rest. They build sleeping quarters and kitchens at the track and there they stay for six mortal days while the whirl of rubber tires on the boards never ceases—day and night for six days.

I must halt and go over to see the Messrs. Hanjars and inform them that a Greek is teamed with a Syrian as team No. 1.

I think it's going to be fun, good, daffy fun, our first six-day race.

THE FASTEST BIKE TIME.

Fastest time over a measured mile in a bike was made last week by Frank Bartell, Czech six-day bike rider.

Motor paced in Los Angeles he covered a measured mile in the average time of 80.05 miles per hour, driving the bike at times at a speed of 90 miles an hour.

It requires legs, real legs, and a real heart and physical condition to do that. Any time the legs will propel a machine 90 miles per hour, there are a pair of legs.

Greatest bike record of all is that of one L. Vanderstuyft, set in Paris in 1928. Motor paced he covered 76 miles and 503 yards in an even 60 minutes.

Which, of course, is an almost impossible thing to do, maintain speed that long with human legs. Going better than 76 miles in 60 minutes on a bike is one of those records which will stand until some super-built man possessed of super-stamina comes along to better it.

MENKE'S RECORD BOOK.

Frank G. Menke has mailed me an autographed copy of his All-Sports Record Book for 1935. It is quite a volume and can settle all those arguments which begin after the third highball. It contains all standard sports records and some others you'll have fun reading.

Face slapping, for instance. A couple of lads from Kiev hold that record. Gionuze and Bezborodny slapped each other in the face for 36 hours, and it ended in a draw. No champion.

Shin kicking, you will learn, is an old Welsh sport. These sissies put their hands on each other's shoulders and kicked each other's shins with heavy boots until one cries "Uncle." Or whatever "Uncle" is in Welsh. No champion listed.

Corn husking? Seiler, of Illinois, husked 37½ pounds per minute for 80 consecutive minutes. Try that in your crib some afternoon.

Punching the bag? One Greenhill banged it for 72 hours and 10 minutes. Which is better than the bag-punching which goes on at the bridge-teas when the neighbors' characters get punched around.

How about your chest? Until you can expand yours more than Ben Zersen, of Sioux City, with 10 3-4 inches will hold the record.

But the one you'll love is—no fooling—The Ice Sitting Championship.

Gus Simmons, of Chicago, on July 31, 1933, was pulled off a cake of ice after he had sat on it for 26 hours.

And why did they pull him off?

He was running a fever of 102 degrees.

HE BILLY-GOATED 'EM.

Old Massa Bill Alexander took the second-choice players at Georgia Tech Saturday and listed the first-choice lads, headed by Bobby Dodd and Mack Tharpe, 7 to 6 in a football game at Grant field that closed the spring practice season.

The Dodd-Tharpe outfit was over-confident, but what lost them the game was that Old Massa Alexander's boys were knocking them back on their heels with tackling. I don't know if it was the sight of the back bear signs about our town or not, but no sooner did I see the boys tackling than I began to think about billy goats.

Lots of our modern coaches are getting off on tangents about passes and laterals and lots of phenagling stuff. But the fact remains that football is a game of contact and, everything else being equal, the team with the most billy-goat instinct and action will win the game. The other club has got to be knocked flat before the fancy stuff is any good.

Hughes To Replace Bill Knickerbocker

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—(AP) A 22-year-old shortstop from Cincinnati, Roy Hughes, assumed prominence today in the plans of the Cleveland Indians.

A surgeon's knife took Bill Knickerbocker out of the lineup yesterday after a sudden attack of appendicitis, and Hughes is counted on to fill his place.

Young Hughes got his chance last year with the New Orleans Pelicans after Fritz Knecht had broken a finger, and proceeded to hang on to the shortstop berth. At the end of the season he led the Southern association in base stealing.

Rain prevented the Indians from playing today's scheduled exhibition game with the Pelicans.

FANS 19.

Si Johnson, of the Cincinnati Reds, fanned 19 batters in a game he pitched for Rock Island in 1928.

FIVE-CLUB RACE IS IN PROSPECT FOR SOUTHERN

Atlanta, Memphis, Nashville, New Orleans, Chattanooga Are Favorites.

By Kenneth Gregory.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 17.—(AP) Only a month remains until the umpires will exclaim vehemently the familiar strains of "Play ball!"

That resounding call to arms will signify the start of another Southern Association campaign, a pennant battle through 154 games that looms as one of the best balanced races in several years.

It's an old story—this optimistic view—but this season the outlook actually appears brighter for the eight clubs, what with help coming from major league teams for some and a bumper crop of rookies fighting for positions in every camp.

Generally, the prospects are for an exceedingly close race and a good season financially in view of highly seasoned material available and the improvement shown in gate receipts of other sports.

Introduction of the Shaughnessy system to the association this year, wherein the teams finishing in the first division battle it out in a series for the pennant, is one of the factors behind the pre-season optimism.

FIVE-CLUB RACE.

The consensus seems to be that the campaign will develop into a five-club affair, with Atlanta, Memphis, Nashville, New Orleans and Chattanooga ranking as the favorites for the play-off, and with any one of the other representatives—Little Rock, Knoxville and Birmingham—likely to edge into the select circle.

Association directors have voted out the split-season, in vogue for the last two seasons that saw New Orleans win the pennant each year, conquering Memphis in 1933 and Nashville in 1934 in play-offs.

In going after its third consecutive championship, New Orleans' chief worry centers around its pitching staff and Manager Larry Gilbert, piloting the club that has finished out of the top bracket only twice in 20 years, admits his corps of moundmen is nothing to brag about.

Even before active spring training starts at Daytona Beach, Fla., Manager Eddie Moore says Atlanta is ready for the campaign. He's all set for the race with a heavy-hitting outfield, a fine pitching staff, a well-balanced infield and one of the best coaches in the league.

The Crackers are a heavy favorite in the pre-season dog fight at East Lake yesterday and the winning four-some put up a red-hot score of 127.

This quartet included K. A. Stephenson, Dr. L. H. Kelly, A. N. Patton and E. L. Thompson.

Three four-somes were tied at 132. They included: C. A. Williams, C. E. Peppitt, O. B. Duncan and W. P. Branch; Donald Sargent, Willis Calloway, J. P. Wilhoit and Robert Ingram; W. H. Vaughan, F. R. Sommers, J. W. Lundeen and J. B. Hutson.

At 132 were J. B. McConnell, J. R. Cochran, J. H. Harland and M. R. Campbell. And behind them at 131 were B. Frank Guy, R. J. Kirkpatrick, J. J. Larnigan and J. K. Charters.

Another foursome of H. T. Dobbs, George Spring, R. H. Dobbs and P. F. O'Brien came in with 133.

Spinks Scores Another Ace.

A. C. Spinks made a hole in one on No. 5 Sunday at the West End Gun Club.

While an ace is unusual, Spinks thought little more about it as it was the fourth he has made on the same hole. He used a No. 7 iron.

In all, Spinks has made five aces at the West End. He scored the other on No. 6.

Scott Has Ace At Anley Park.

J. H. Scott, a member of the Anley Park Golf Club, yesterday scored an ace on the 150-yard No. 7 hole. He used a No. 5 iron. He played around with F. A. Truan and S. H. Gray.

DOWN THE ALLEYS

The Dr. Pepper Bottling Company bowled high team game of Southern Duckpin League, getting a big game of 508, as they won two games from their strongest contender for the lead in the league, the Ramblers.

Smith had games of 120, 115, 125, to lead the scoring of his team with a big 399 total. However, Bruce, of the Ramblers, gathered in the biggest series that has been collected in the Southern Duckpin League with games of 124, 120, 141, for a 385 score.

After each team winning an even break on the first two games, the Independents and Hawkins Electric Company tied up at the end of the final game. Nelms, Hays and Lee did the heavy bowling for the Hawkins team; Hope, Wells, Wilkinson and Paine gathered in the big games for the Independents.

With Luke Mewborn hitting the pins in great form, the Strikers won from the Georgia Roofing & Supply Company, Fitzgerald and Spier were high for the roofers.

The Sinclair Refining Company, of Olton, won a five-game match over the local Sinclair Refining Company five in an inter-city match at Bick's this week-end. A return engagement will be played at Dalton in the very near future.

Allen, Hogue, Blanford, DuPre and Parrish bowled for the local oil team, while G. Wilkins, Parks, E. L. Wink, C. Wink and C. Frank Hawkins represented the Dalton outfit.

The singles championship matches and mixed doubles in which games were postponed the past week-end due to the doubles tournament, will be resumed this Saturday evening, at the usual time.

Fort McPherson copped first place in the men's five-man event, in the handicap city tennis tournament. In the doubles, Harry Hall and E. L. Phillips topped the list and De Rosa, a Georgia league star, finished out in front.

The City, Atlanta Journal, Bible Class and Sunday School league, Passenger Club, Georgian-American and Dixie Tenpin leagues will bowl this evening.

The Constitution Bowling Champions of 1935

Here they are, folks, the winners of the third annual Constitution St. Patrick's Day handicap doubles duckpin bowling tournament. George McKay, left, and Walter Lawson, extreme right, entered as a scratch team and rolled the amazing five-game score of 1,297. Mrs. Luther Tiedeman and Mrs. Lloyd Perryman, left to right in center, became the first ladies team champions, winning a roll-off with Bebe Bangert and Dot Morris after tying at the end of the five games. It was the greatest of The Constitution tournaments, with an entry of 91 pairs, or 182, of the city's leading stars.

127 SCORE WINS AT EAST LAKE

Fifteen four-somes engaged in the regular Sunday dog fight at East Lake yesterday and the winning four-some put up a red-hot score of 127.

This quartet included K. A. Stephenson, Dr. L. H. Kelly, A. N. Patton and E. L. Thompson.

Three four-somes were tied at 132. They included: C. A. Williams, C. E. Peppitt, O. B. Duncan and W. P. Branch; Donald Sargent, Willis Calloway, J. P. Wilhoit and Robert Ingram; W. H. Vaughan, F. R. Sommers, J. W. Lundeen and J. B. Hutson.

At 132 were J. B. McConnell, J. R. Cochran, J. H. Harland and M. R. Campbell. And behind them at 131 were B. Frank Guy, R. J. Kirkpatrick, J. J. Larnigan and J. K. Charters.

Another foursome of H. T. Dobbs, George Spring, R. H. Dobbs and P. F. O'Brien came in with 133.

While an ace is unusual, Spinks thought little more about it as it was the fourth he has made on the same hole. He used a No. 7 iron.

In all, Spinks has made five aces at the West End. He scored the other on No. 6.

Smith had games of 120, 115, 125, to lead the scoring of his team with a big 399 total. However, Bruce, of the Ramblers, gathered in the biggest series that has been collected in the Southern Duckpin League with games of 124, 120, 141, for a 385 score.

After each team winning an even break on the first two games, the Independents and Hawkins Electric Company tied up at the end of the final game. Nelms, Hays and Lee did the heavy bowling for the Hawkins team; Hope, Wells, Wilkinson and Paine gathered in the big games for the Independents.

With Luke Mewborn hitting the pins in great form, the Strikers won from the Georgia Roofing & Supply Company, Fitzgerald and Spier were high for the roofers.

The Sinclair Refining Company, of Olton, won a five-game match over the local Sinclair Refining Company five in an inter-city match at Bick's this week-end. A return engagement will be played at Dalton in the very near future.

Allen, Hogue, Blanford, DuPre and Parrish bowled for the local oil team, while G. Wilkins, Parks, E. L. Wink, C. Wink and C. Frank Hawkins represented the Dalton outfit.

The singles championship matches and mixed doubles in which games were postponed the past week-end due to the doubles tournament, will be resumed this Saturday evening, at the usual time.

Fort McPherson copped first place in the men's five-man event, in the handicap city tennis tournament. In the doubles, Harry Hall and E. L. Phillips topped the list and De Rosa, a Georgia league star, finished out in front.

The City, Atlanta Journal, Bible Class and Sunday School league, Passenger Club, Georgian-American and Dixie Tenpin leagues will bowl this evening.

'Sign Up With Rickey And See the World'

Jim Lindsey, Cracker Pitcher, Once Toiled for Three St. Louis Clubs Within Three Weeks.

By Jimmy Jones.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 17.—It is a rare day indeed when Jim Lindsey, the wandering minstrel of the Cracker pitching staff, can't tell you a good story of the days when he was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' chain gang.

Jim is a fellow who has been places and seen things. And he made the round of all the Cardinal ball clubs before he became a fugitive from the chain gang and escaped to Atlanta.

"Sign up with Branch Rickey and you'll see the world," Jim was telling some of the wide-eyed rookies in a hotel session the other night.

Then Jim told them of the time when he pitched for three different St. Louis teams inside of three weeks.

Branch Rickey, whom Jim will always insist is the world's brainiest man, had a habit of jumping his experienced pitchers around to aid some hard-pressed subsidiary club in a minor league pennant fight. Frequently he would send one of his most experienced pitchers down to the Association to help Columbus or over to the Rochester team, both of which are operated by the Cardinals.

MINUTE MAN. One year, Lindsey acted as Rickey's main rescue or minute-man and literally lived out of his suitcase.

"There was a fellow, an excellent salesman—who followed me around that year and I'll never forget him," Jim was saying.

"This fellow saw me pitch and win a game for St. Louis one week. The next week, he happened to be down to Columbus and saw me pitch a game down there."

The next week, I got orders from Rickey to go up to join Rochester, which was playing at Montreal. I was asked to pitch the first night after arriving. While I was out in the bullpen warming up, someone called to me in a tremulous voice from the bleachers. It was the traveling salesman who had seen me pitch at St. Louis and Columbus the week before.

"The traveling man had been imbibing a little too much of the choice Canadian liquors and thought he was having the d. t. and seeing things. 'Please don't tell anyone about this, Jim, but am I right when I say that this is the third time I've seen you pitch in three different leagues inside of three weeks?'"

Jim informed the traveling man that he was quite right and he was vastly relieved.

"He thought he had me confused with a pink elephant, I guess," Jim Lindsey, incidentally, is recognized as one of the foremost wits in baseball. Last week, he was featured in the Saturday Evening Post story in the spring of 1931 as a disciplinary measure, was the line that made the Post article.

"Well, that's the first time I ever saw a ball club lose 30 games in spring training," Jim remarked as Dixie departed. Dean had been boasting to the boys that he would win that many games that year if Gabby would give him the chance. He later made good his boast, but under a new manager, Frankie Frisch, last year.

EASY, SUN! Some of Lindsey's stories on Rickey are droll and equally funny. There is the one about the time when Rickey managed the Cards. Branch was always a great theorist. One day Max Flack, an outfielder, dropped a fir ball, complaining that the sun got in his eyes.

The next day Rickey brought an almanac out to the dugout and proved to Flack that the sun couldn't possibly have been in his eyes at that particular time of the afternoon.

Lindsey also tells of a time when the Cardinals played Rickey's school team at Springfield. There were around 500 players in the school.

"The pitcher who started against us had the number 390 on his back," Jim said.

Lindsey, the oldest and one of the smartest of the Cracker pitchers, has enjoyed a fine career. He broke in with Cleveland in 1921 off the Louisville sandlots and won his first American league game for Tris Speaker, 2 to 1.

In two seasons at Houston, 1923 and 1929, he compiled 47 victories, a

LAWSON, 'MCKAY STAR IN EVENT

By Jack Troy.

The great victory of Walter Lawson and George McKayingers on, although The Constitution's third annual St. Patrick's Day handicap doubles duckpin tournament is over and done with and a new record of 91 couples is ready for the blue book of bowling.

I'll always remember the spirit they showed when they battled along at top form, shooting from scratch, with the knowledge that only the actual pins they spilled would be credited to their total.

So when they finished at 8:20 Saturday night at Bick's center the tournament was over as far as the men's division was concerned and the final shift hadn't even started.

OPENING GAME. Their great scratch score of 1,297 was made in this manner. There was an opening game of 289, which attracted the attention of the spectators.

Then Lawson put in the big game of the tournament—a great 167—and McKay rolled a 133. This big second game of 800 really put them up there, so to speak.

And so they went on from that point. Games of 219, 262 and 227 followed for their grand total of 1,297.

The gold medal winners won without handicaps and beat out their nearest competitors, Carl Tidwell and Aloysius Sosong, also a scratch team, by 42 pins.

It was a great tournament, with the ladies coming down the stretch neck and neck, after a mannerly speaking, trying and then engaging in a one-box roll-off.

LADIES CHAMPIONS. Mrs. Luther Tiedeman and Mrs. Lloyd Perryman were crowned as the first ladies team champions in the extra session.

Thanks go to Ed Plant for the great success of the third annual tournament.

The Constitution's third annual St. Patrick's Day handicap doubles duckpin tournament really established a record for other doubles tournaments held in the United States to try to equal. With an even 91 pairs, the previous Constitution record of 60 couples received a substantial boost.

Every league in the city was represented by one or more pairs. This means that the banker, the baker and the candlestick maker and all other branches of business had representatives in the popular event.

Just suppose Harry Cavan, former National Bowling Congress champion, and George (Tubby) Small had been paired. Small rolled 647 and Cavan rolled 650 for the five games. This would have given them a five-game total of 1,303. These likeable old-timers said, however, that they'd take on any other pair their age and weight. And they would likely win.

The Constitution was glad to see Small and Long John Conyers, the first winners in 1933, back in the competition. They have rolled each year. Bowling from scratch they had a five-game total of 1,163, which was very good. Conyers had done very little bowling this year.

The ladies were included in the tournament for the first time and responded with 18 team entries. Which is a very fine showing for the tournament. Nobody has been able to explain why they weren't included the first year.

Harry Cavan and Bill McAdams were the first team to hit the 1,200 mark. They rolled a snappy five-game score of 1,204. They were followed by the team of H. Knauer and Charles Herman with one pin better at 1,205. No other 1,200 scores were posted in the afternoon competition.

In the first shift of the afternoon which started at 1 o'clock, Ed Plant expected about six couples. And what was his surprise to see 20 couples ready to go. It was like this all through the afternoon. The main firing began in the evening, however. So many couples appeared it was difficult to find enough alleys to go around. The Constitution is proud of the co-operation of city bowlers in the third annual tournament.

When mid-quarter examinations were completed last week, university officials announced every member of the spring training squad had passed with "above the average" grades.

More than 70 candidates are taking positions on the 1935 football team.

CYCLISTS MEET ON NEW TRACK AT AUDITORIUM

Young Bobby Walthour To Compete in March 29 Event.

By Ralph McGill.

Six-day bike racing will make its debut in Atlanta on the evening of March 29, according to announcement by promoters yesterday who arrived here from Miami where a successful race was staged.

Bike riders from the annual race at Madison Square Garden in New York and the one beginning this week at Chicago will compete at the auditorium on a track which will be built there.

Kitchens and sleeping quarters, as usual, will also be constructed for the teams of riders. The two-man teams will alternate on the boards, one riding while the other sleeps.

FIRST RACE HERE.

It will be the first six-day race for Atlanta, the town which produced Bobby Walthour, one of the greatest riders in the history of the game, and John Chapman, the man who became the world-wide czar of the bike racing game and made a fortune from it.

Young Bobby Walthour will compete here.

The race, of course, goes on constantly, night and day, for six days. The American Legion will sponsor the race here and plans will be made immediately for the selling of tickets. Construction of the track will begin a few days before the race. It will be built into the auditorium arena with the boxes, dress circle and balcony supplying ample seating capacity.

Millard Luen, who promoted successful meets at Miami, Kansas City and other cities, will be in charge of the event here and guarantee internationally known stars as competitors.

The track here, according to Luen, will be a hazardous one because of the lack of space and this will add to the thrills as some spills are inevitable.

144 HOURS.

That six-day bike grind will start whirling down at our town hall on the evening of March 29 and will continue for 144 consecutive hours, the teams sleeping, eating and living there as they alternate on the bikes.

He is eager for two or three local teams to enter if there are any boys here who feel they can qualify for what is one of the most strenuous physical grinds in all sport. Applications may be made to the sports editor of The Constitution.

The race will be started with elaborate ceremonies at 8:30 o'clock on the evening of March 29. These have packed Madison Square Garden for years and it is expected that Atlanta will respond to the novelty and the thrill of the six-day whirl.

THE RIDERS.

A tentative list of riders includes: Bobby Walthour Jr., with partner yet to be named.

Gys Rys and Eddie Ammann—Greek-Syrian team.

Tasas Blumet and Michael De-filippo—Italian team.

Red Kugler and Tony Beckmann—German team.

Stacy Cozens and Thomas Flynn—English team.

Jack Albert Marquett and Albert Gabela—Canadian team.

Guy Ricci and James Basile—Italian team.

George Metz and Charles Roth-kugel—German team.

Frank Hays and Joe Vermish—Yugoslav team.

Only 2 Players Missing as Cracker Squad Is Boosted to 29

MOORE PLANS EXTRA PRACTICE FOR BIG SQUAD

Chatham and Taylor Are Ready To Begin Work Today With Club.

Paul Easterling Reaches Camp

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 17.—Paul Easterling, the man looked upon to lead the Cracker squad, arrived at the Daytona Beach camp tonight, bringing the player list to 29.

Easterling, a Georgia boy, has been leading the Cracker squad for several years. Last season he hit 29 home runs for Tulsa and batted .299. In 1932, he played on a pennant-winning team at Beaumont. He will take part in the first workout of all the Cracker regulars tomorrow.

The arrival of Easterling left only Lipscomb and Hill absent of the entire squad.

By Jimmy Jones.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 17.—The day clerk at the Hotel Gilbert, the hostelry where the Cracker squad is staying, was looking around for more room tonight as the roster of the Atlanta ball club approached the saturation point.

Two more players, Frank Hopkins, lanky young first baseman from the textiles league around Greenville, S. C., and Francis (Babe) Buscher, the former University of Maryland star, put in their appearance today, and they, along with Captain Buster Chatham, the shortstop, and Harry Taylor, first baseman, who arrived with Earl Mann Saturday night, brought the squad up to 29.

Only two players, "Nig" Lipscomb, young second baseman from Greenville, S. C., and Johnnie (Babe) Buscher, the former University of Maryland star, put in their appearance today, and they, along with Captain Buster Chatham, the shortstop, and Harry Taylor, first baseman, who arrived with Earl Mann Saturday night, brought the squad up to 29.

EXTEND WORKOUTS.

This means that Manager Eddie Moore will have to extend his workout a little this week, for the island park will be full to overflowing with all the regulars here, and Eddie will have to step on the Cracker play ground next Saturday at Orlando and on Sunday here.

Moore has to get nine pitchers in shape to pitch three innings apiece on those two days, for the Cracker team will play Herk Thomas' Palatka club on Sunday while the regulars are playing here.

Furthermore Moore has plenty of work to do on his infield, for he must get Buster Chatham and young Lipscomb up and see how they work together on double plays. The reports on Lipscomb's fielding and hitting have been good, and he is the boy counted on to play second for the club all season. Moore, a veteran, who has played all the infield positions, should help Lipscomb.

BATTERYMEN WORK.

The pitchers and catchers have come along fine and the weather has been good. The others won't have long to get in shape, but Moore plans a lot of substitutes in the early games.

Dave Harris, the North Carolina sheriff, who drove in with his wife and young son Saturday, said he was in the best condition to start training than he had been in several years. The sheriff, who has been active in life up in Tarbell, has only four pounds to go. He weighs 206 now, not much above his normal weight.

Harris thinks he will have a good year with the Cracker and inquired about the number of left-handed pitchers in the league. He likes to hit the left-handers. They are a little scarce this year, the sheriff says, but he has a left-handed pitcher in his own back yard, having no more than one good one, but the sheriff can hit almost any kind of pitcher.

Red Barron and others who have played with the Cracker and in the most dependable hitter on the club and that he should hit in the cleanup spot.

DANGEROUS HITTER.

Harris has always been a dangerous hitter. Atlanta will recall when the sheriff joined Chattanooga in 1932 and hit the Lookouts of Bert Niehoff into the pennant. He's getting along in years and didn't play much with Washington last year, but he should be a mighty good man for a minor league club for several years, for he's always taken good care of himself. The sheriff will be 34 in July, but plenty of sluggers reach their prime at that age. The legs are the main thing for the old slugger, and Harris always has a bit—usually holds up as far as the eyes are concerned.

Harris, who has a lifetime batting average of around .300 for his 12 years in pro ball, including the majors, doesn't think he will need any substitutes after he gets in shape.

Buscher and Hopkins, the youngsters who arrived today are prospects, that's all. Buscher captured three

THE SPORT PARADE

A Few Sidelights on the Remarkable Dizzy Dean

"The main trouble with Dizzy," Frank Frisch, his manager, said, "is that he can't relax when he isn't pitching. He is the most nervous man on the bench I ever saw. He watches every play. He's likely at any second to rush out from the bench to first or third and slap someone on the back. Dean can only relax when he is working. Then he never worries." Here is an angle of the Dizzy One watching the play from the Cardinal bench. And this picture was taken during innings when the Tiger and Cardinal teams were exchanging positions. (To be continued.) Colonel Andrews Made Last Speech at Shoot

Prominent Atlantan Left Sick Bed at Daytona Beach To Welcome Visiting Sportsmen.

By Jack Troy.

Colonel Walter Andrews has gone to that better land, I know, and it must fit into the plans of the Maker. But, somehow, it is all rather hard for a young fellow to understand.

It's doubly hard to understand when you have known such a man as Colonel Walter Andrews but a fleeting moment in life's comparatively brief scheme.

There was a day, not long ago, when Mrs. Andrews, president of the Florida State Trapsporters' Association, was having her first state shoot at the new club in Daytona Beach.

There was a brilliant field. Colonel Andrews, who had been ill a long time and able to move about only in a wheelchair, gazed out at a turbulent sea, tumbling and tossing across the beach in front of his home. It was cold. Daytona Beach folks were apologizing for the biting temperatures and the extremely high northeast winds.

COURAGEOUS.

It is reported that Colonel Andrews succumbed to a heart attack. And that, I presume, is correct. But if ever a man had a stouter heart than he it must be proven.

Because on that blustery January afternoon, much to the surprise of all concerned, especially Mrs. Andrews, who should come walking into the comfortable clubhouse, but Colonel Andrews, appeared at the side of the automobile.

"You're making $2," the arm of the law challenged. "The arm of the law," said Mr. Taylor, "we are in a hurry to get to camp." "Sorry," said the cop, "you boys will have to come back."

Result: boys finally arrived in camp but after paying a $25 fine. They had to go back to court.

But they got there in plenty of time for the Cracker Monday workout.

sports at University of Maryland—"Boo" Berger's Alma Mater—and comes highly recommended from the Albany club. He is only 24 years old and said to be about the type of player. If he is anywhere near that good, he will make the Cracker a good rookie.

He and Hopkins probably will go to Portsmouth.

Today was a rest day in the Cracker camp. Some of the players, including Prince Dana and Bill Schmidt, the pitcher, went over to Orlando to watch an exhibition game between the Phillies and Brooklyn. Others went fishing while a party, including Eddie Moore and Earl Mann, paid a visit to Sir Malcolm Campbell at his garage and looked over his Bluebird.

Eleven Records Fall in Swim Meet

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 17.—Eleven outstanding records fell, chiefly because of the onslaught of Katherine Rawls, of the Miami Beach Swimming Club, at the Sun and Surf Club pool today.

Miss Rawls, holder of 17 national breaststroke records and four world marks, accounted for three, while Flanagan set four.

Total points for the two-day meet staged under auspices of the Palm Beach Athletic Club: Palm Beach 216 points; Miami Beach 172.

Today's points: Senior events only, Miami Beach 106; Palm Beach 68.

Individual points: Katherine Rawls 25; Betty Joyce McMillin 13; Evelyn Rawls 11.

Boys: Flanagan 25; John Patton 12; Earl Clark 10.

GODOY WINS.

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 17.—(UP)—Arturo Godoy, Chilean light-heavyweight, tonight won a decision over Sammy Loughran, former light-heavyweight world champion, in a 10-round bout.

RUTH BIG HELP IN BRAVES' WIN OVER YANKEES

Babe Gets Hit and Scores Two Runs in 9-to-4 Victory.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Babe Ruth made one timely hit and scored two runs against his former teammates today as the Boston Braves trounced the New York Yankees 9 to 4 in their second exhibition clash today.

The Babe smacked Russell Van Atta's delivery for a single after Bill Urbanski had walked. They both scored when a hit by Wally Berger, a force-out, a walk and a single by Les Mallon completed a three-run rally. In the second, Ruth forced Frankhouse at the plate when he came up with the bases full but went on to tally in another three-run outburst.

Jesse Hill led the Yankee hitters with a double and a homer. Score: Boston (N. Y.) 9, 330 102 000—9 12 0 New York (N. Y.) 4, 000 110 002—4 10 0 Frankhouse, Ben Boggs, Van Atta, Murphy, Tammis and Kies.

DIZZY LOSES.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—The Giants got even with Dizzy Dean for yesterday's pinch-hit when they smacked him for seven runs in the second inning and a 10-to-2 victory over the Cardinals today.

Singles by Weintraub and Terry started the big inning. Jackson walked, then Davis, Mancuso, Critz and Bartell smacked singles and Hank Lieber finished off with a two-bagger. The other three runs were scored off Bill Hallahan in the sixth. Score: St. Louis (N. Y.) 10, 000 010—2 5 5 New York (N. Y.) 2, 070 008 002—10 12 0 Dean, Buehler, Kinsler and Dolac, V. Davis, Fitzsimmons, Chagnon, Smith and Mancuso, Danning.

DODGERS WIN.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hit hard and often today to defeat the Phillies 10 to 5 in an exhibition slugfest today.

After building up a 3-1 lead in the first three innings against Orville Jorgens' pitching, they went to work on Jim Bivins, another rookie, in the fourth and pre-arranged game on with four more tallies. Len Konecne provided the day's best feat, a home run inside the park in the third. Score: St. Louis (N. Y.) 5, 021 402 106—10 12 0 Jorgens, Bivins, Bowman and Todd, Leonard, Berger and Phelps, Gans.

LUCK OF IRISH.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby and the St. Louis Browns had the luck of the Irish with them to defeat the Baltimore Orioles, 7 to 6, in a St. Patrick's Day exhibition game today.

Six hits were scored by the Browns, but they were aided by the wildness of Orioles hurlers, who reeled off 10 bases on balls, a hit batsman and three wild pitches.

A'S LOSE.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—The Red Sox slapped Connie Mack's Athletics 4 to 0 today in a St. Patrick's Day game which wasn't very remarkable for hitting, although some neat fielding was turned in by the Bostonians.

The Sox got only two hits each from "Rube" Walberg, in the box for the last five stanzas and from "Dusty" Rhodes, who preceded him on the mound. Al Benesch was the winning pitcher, three of which were made against George Caster, four against Southpaw Wilshire, and the other against Leroy Reynolds. Savina and Dahlgren took the one-baggers from Wilshire in a row for a run.

Score by innings: Red Sox 110 001 000—4 000—0 Caster, Wilshire, Mahaffey and Fox, Reynolds, Benesch, Farrell, Savina.

TIGERS WIN.

TAMPA, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Pounding Paul Derringer and Danny MacFadden for 18 innings, the Detroit Tigers won the first of a series of training games from the Cincinnati Reds today.

A three-run lead taken early by the National league tailenders failed to hold up.

The Reds did their best for a comeback, slugging a three-run rally in the ninth, off Tommy Bridges. Schoenboy Rowe was in the box for the Tigers as the game opened.

Manager Charlie Dressen yanked his kid infield in the fifth.

REDS GAMBLE ON 'FRESHMEN'

By Alan Gould.

TAMPA, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—Cincinnati, one of baseball's most ancient and successful franchises, is about to prove the ground this year for as drastic a series of experiments as the major leagues have ever witnessed.

On the general theory that there is nothing to lose and everything to gain, the Reds will tackle the toughest opposition in baseball with a club rebuilt from rookie talent. Two-thirds of the starting lineup, including the entire infield, will consist of big league freshmen. An even dozen players expected to survive the last "cut" to put the club inside the limit of 23 have nothing beyond "AA" minor league experience behind them.

The Reds have been a National league doormat for six years, cellar champions for the last four seasons. Under a new and highly enterprising manager, Bill Campbell, purchased from Los Angeles, and slated to be the No. 1 receiver.

The new infield consists of Johnny Mize, Alex Kampouris, Billy Myers and Lew Riggs, sending from right to left. Myers, a great-looking shortstop, is the key man. Mize, bought from Rochester N. Y., on condition he would call it Richard Victor, but that Victor was "out" unless Harvard was victorious over Yale in the season's finale Saturday.

The team came through, upsetting Eli 34 to 18 for Harvard's first hoop win over Yale since 1927.

Chocolate Loses To Venezuelan

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 17.—(UP)—Kid Chocolate, former Cuban ring sensation, was outclassed today in a 10-round bout with Simon Chavez, of Venezuela, before 10,000 spectators.

Each fighter weighed 126. Judges gave Chavez nine rounds, declaring the first round a draw. The Cuban was knocked off his feet in the ninth and was up almost immediately, despite the fact that he was groggy throughout the last three rounds.

A RITUAL.

Cincinnati had 17,000 seats sold for opening day, before February 1. Opening day attendance is sort of a ritual at Crosley field.

VALUABLE HOMER.

Jim Bottomley won a suit of clothes in his first professional ball game by hitting a home run.

PIONEERS.

The Cincinnati Reds are the pioneers of professional baseball, having been organized in 1859.

Ham, McDonald Win Ham Shoot At West End

Four Shooters Tie in Class B of St. Patrick's Event.

By Jack Troy.

Please don't think it was an association of ideas, but anyway Sam Ham came all the way down from the Gainesville Gun Club yesterday, St. Patrick's Day, to win the ham in Class A at the Capitol Gun Club.

How Mr. Ham shot to win the ham is very evident by his score. He broke 49 out of 50 of those skipping clay targets in the number one skeet competition, beating out Atlanta's Addison Smith by one target.

There must have been a lot of hungry shooters in Class B because, while there was only one 49 in Class A, there were four in this class and the ham was safe for another week.

FOUR-WAY TIE.

Clyde King Jr., C. L. Talley, C. L. Davis and J. L. Franklin, fine shooters all engaged in a very definite deadlock. They will settle their skeet differences in a special shoot next Sunday.

Little Luther McDonald, the junior scatter gun wizard, broke 45 out of 50 to win the ham in Class C. S. W. Roper was just back again with 44. Five of the shooters had 49. Some of the greatest shooting ever witnessed at the West End Club. Eleven shooters had scores of 47 or better out of 50. Five of the shooters had 49. What makes it all the most amazing is the fact that there was quite a wind stirring and the pigeons were not behaving themselves in a manner befitting gentlemen.

Clint Davis, hard-working secretary of the West End, won the medal for the longest straight of the day. Clint ran 40 targets before missing. Ben Freeman, Jr., who is just getting back in form after an operation, ran 45.

KEEN COMPETITION.

The special "Miss and Out" shoot was something else, too. There was a squad of eleven shooters to begin with. All dropped out except Davis and Clyde King, who ran 25 straight. Davis dropped his 26th target and King broke both targets to win the prize.

More than 50 shooters participated in the St. Patrick's event, it being the largest club shoot of this year. Davis, the Duke and Ralph Zachary were in charge.

Jim Johnson, of Fulton Bg., ran away with the beginners' medal, breaking 20-25. Jimmy, correctly, broke for spring and shot with his dress coat on. L. Robery was runner-up with 16. Other first-timers were Leo Myers, S. C. Forrester, Frank Forrester, E. M. Cheek, G. O. Brewster, Y. L. Lee and L. Simpson.

Leo Myers, a visitor from Dallas, Texas, was the victim of one of the greatest tricks of the season. They got and received L. Robery, who had a gun that didn't kick, being a first-timer at shooting of any kind.

REVERSED JOKE.

Well, the first time he pressed the trigger the high-powered blunderbuss kicked him back against the No. 1 traphouse. He yelled, but he was willing. And the first target was broken. He called for the second target and received another mule-like kick. But the second target was broken. The joke was on the perpetrators.

J. D. Matthews, his wife and young son were visitors from the Gainesville Gun Club and treated a large number of shooters at the noon hour. Mrs. Matthews bowed to the crowd with a hand of chicken, deviled eggs, home-made biscuit and other tempting comestibles in a setting of pines and much to the credit of her cooking, there were only crumbs scattered here and there when the firing commenced.

Leading scores: Sam Ham, 49; Clyde King Jr., 49; C. L. Talley, 49; C. L. Franklin, 49; Addison Smith, 48; L. B. Duke, 47; Benesch, 47; J. L. Davis, 47; Jack Gray, 47; A. J. Orme Jr., 47; Jack Troy, 46; Luther McDonald, 45; S. W. Roper, 44; M. G. Gilbreath, 44; S. W. Roper, 44; W. T. Johnson, 42; G. O. Brewster, 42; Harry Haskins, 42; L. W. White, 41; Zachary, 40; Dr. O. T. Malone, 38; J. H. Jones, 36; D. Matthews, 36; W. M. Far- Johnston, 35; E. M. Cheek, 34; E. H. Smith, 33; Colcord, 32; S. C. Forrester, 32; S. W. Roper, 32; Paul H. Brinson, 32; B. Henry Hicks, 31; Andrew J. Jones, 31; S. C. Forrester, 30; P. P. Wright, 30; Frank Forrester, 27; E. M. Cheek, 27.

HAM, McDONALD WIN HAM SHOOT AT WEST END

Four Shooters Tie in Class B of St. Patrick's Event.

By Jack Troy.

Please don't think it was an association of ideas, but anyway Sam Ham came all the way down from the Gainesville Gun Club yesterday, St. Patrick's Day, to win the ham in Class A at the Capitol Gun Club.

How Mr. Ham shot to win the ham is very evident by his score. He broke 49 out of 50 of those skipping clay targets in the number one skeet competition, beating out Atlanta's Addison Smith by one target.

There must have been a lot of hungry shooters in Class B because, while there was only one 49 in Class A, there were four in this class and the ham was safe for another week.

FOUR-WAY TIE.

Clyde King Jr., C. L. Talley, C. L. Davis and J. L. Franklin, fine shooters all engaged in a very definite deadlock. They will settle their skeet differences in a special shoot next Sunday.

Little Luther McDonald, the junior scatter gun wizard, broke 45 out of 50 to win the ham in Class C. S. W. Roper was just back again with 44. Five of the shooters had 49. Some of the greatest shooting ever witnessed at the West End Club. Eleven shooters had scores of 4

Roselle, the Hatter, Prepared for Finest Spring Hat Cleaning, Renovation

PLANT EQUIPMENT HIGHLY DEVELOPED FOR EXPERT WORK

Shop at 35 Forsyth Street, N. W., Is Manned by Specialists in Blocking and Restyling.

The spring trek to Roselle, the Hatter, already has begun, and the next few weeks are expected to witness a continually lengthening line of Easter headgear and summer hats passing through the hands of its skilled craftsmen.

T. F. Roselle, proprietor of this popular hat cleaning and renovating establishment at 35 Forsyth street, N. W., urges that spring and summer headgear be put in shape for the bright, warm weather ahead by being brought in as early as possible, in order to avoid delays which may be necessitated when the last-minute rush begins.

Roselle, the Hatter, whose plant was established here in 1923, offers the most complete facilities of any shop in the south—a fact sharply reflected in the steadily increasing patronage it has enjoyed. Discriminating Atlantans, fastidious about their attire, have learned the value of Roselle's service and are depending upon this organization of experts to keep their headgear, the year around, in spic and span condition.

Mr. Roselle has virtually "lived hats" his entire life, being a son of Tony F. Roselle Sr., founder and operator of the huge Roselle hat manufacturing plant in Louisville, one of the largest companies of its kind in the country. The elder Roselle has devoted more than a half century of his life to the manufacture and cleaning of hats.

It is significant to note that the Roselle interests have developed and hold exclusive patent rights on most of their own equipment—machinery especially designed for the exacting tasks pertaining to the cleaning and renovation of hats, and which is not obtainable by any other plants in this country.

The thoroughness with which Roselle, the Hatter, and his highly skilled craftsmen go about their work is in large measure responsible for the popularity this establishment has won among Atlantans. Work done by Roselle, the Hatter, is never "hurried up," yet is executed with a remarkable speed without any lessening of the superior quality of its workmanship.

In the process of cleaning and renovating, the head, lining and leather sweatband are carefully removed and later as carefully and skillfully replaced. For this exacting work, the plant maintains highly specialized and accurately adjusted lining and leather whipping machines.

In cleaning, an absolutely odorless process is employed—another fact which has won for Roselle, the Hatter, a wide following. The shop is equipped with the most complete assortment of long oval, round oval and regular blocks in the south, designed for hats to fit the most difficult heads perfectly.

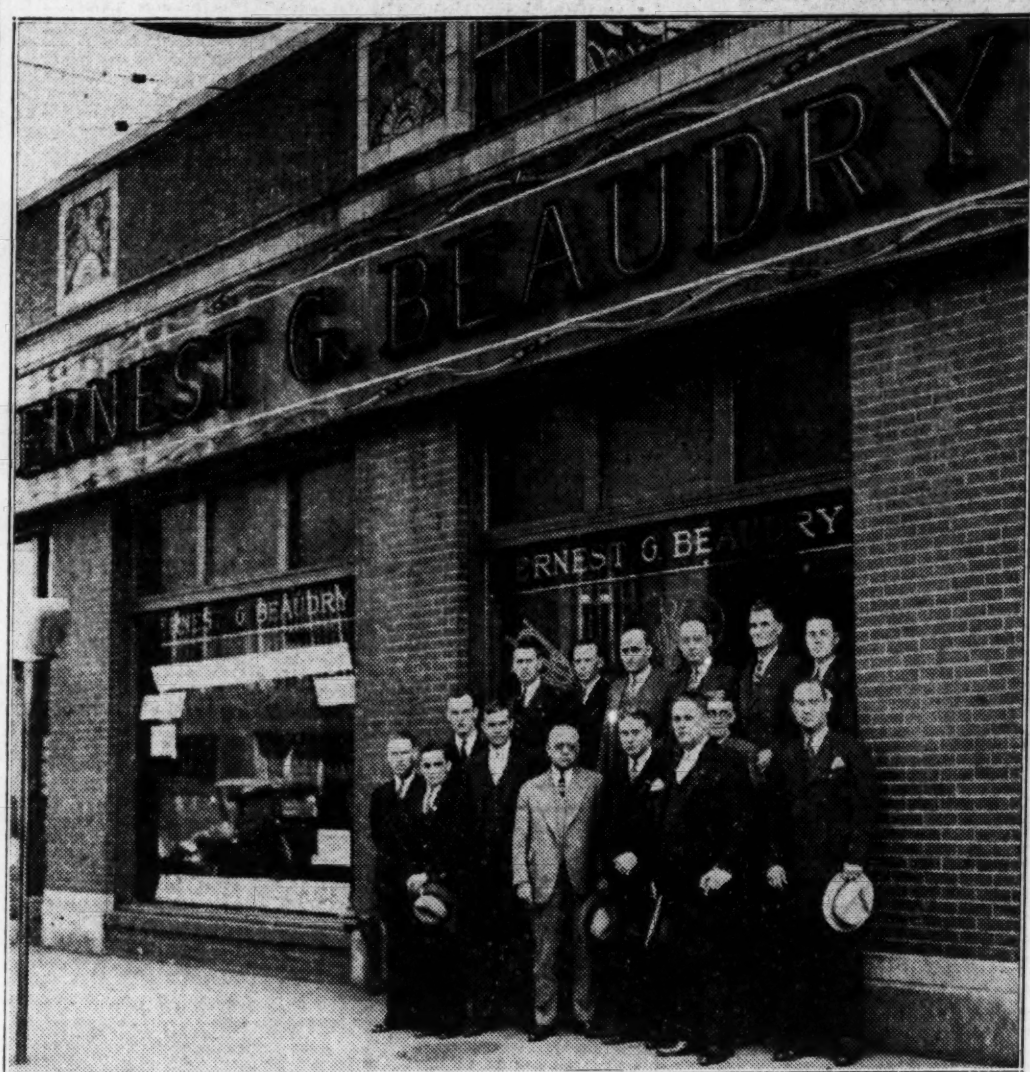

During the cleaning process, each hat undergoes a complete renovation, both "inside" and out. In the case of felt hats, not only is the surface dirt removed, but the material is cleaned through and through.

In connection with the anticipated spring pick-up in his business, Mr. Roselle calls attention again to his recently inaugurated retail agent service, through which persons throughout the southeast may send their hats to Atlanta for cleaning, blocking or restyling. Agents have been appointed at a number of points throughout the southeast, through whom hats may be sent to Roselle, and persons in cities and towns where no Roselle agent is situated may send their hats direct by parcel post.

Roselle, the Hatter, also is in position to handle winter stock through late insurance rates have centered clothing and others. All work is given prompt and efficient attention.

Spring is here! Your spring and summer headgear should be put in order. So send it to Roselle, the Hatter, at 35 Forsyth street, N. W.

Two-to-One Increase in Sales of Ford V-8s Over Last Year Shown by Ernest G. Beaudry

To this group, the sales staff of Ernest G. Beaudry, Ford dealer, is attributed a large part of the company's remarkable V-8 sales record thus far this year. The group, standing in front of the company's showrooms at 160 Marietta street, includes (front row, left to right) Robert Turner, J. C. Barnes, W. E. Beaudry, J. B. Paris, sales manager; Ernest G. Beaudry, owner; Emmet Johnson, M. Garrison, H. M. Yeager and J. W. Achelt; (back row, left to right) E. T. Butler, W. S. Paris, J. C. Banks, J. M. Aldridge, used car sales manager; D. W. Durden and C. J. Chastain, Lincoln salesman.

Positive evidence that business has rounded the corner again and is moving along the highroad to prosperity is clearly reflected in a report by Ernest G. Beaudry, head of the company bearing his name, that its sales of new V-8 Fords, to date this year, have totaled more than two-to-one for the same period of 1934.

The Ernest G. Beaudry organization, thus far in 1935, has sold 280 new units, as compared with 135 to the same date last year—a gain of 150 or well above 100 per cent gain.

The company, Mr. Beaudry points out, already is far ahead of its fixed quota for the year.

This record, he asserts, is not alone an indication of generally improved business conditions and of increased buying power, but a definite recognition of the superiority of this year's improved V-8 Ford over those of former years and over other cars in the same price range.

Just as the first V-8 Ford revised all conceptions of power, pick-up and flexibility in low-priced cars, so has the 1935 Ford brought to this same field a new interpretation of riding smoothness and stability. Coupled with time-proven V-8 performance, "center-poise" redoubles the satisfaction and pleasure of Ford ownership, Mr. Beaudry asserts.

"If the new Ford V-8's offered no other advancements," he declares, "they would still be the finest Fords ever built. But you will find them distinguished by many other noteworthy features. New beauty and style, roomy and luxurious interiors, clear vision ventilation, safety glass throughout, welded, all-steel bodies, softer clutch action, easier, more positive braking, improved steering, larger tires with greater road contact. One might go on and on, enumerating its improvements."

The Ernest G. Beaudry organization, it is pointed out, is the exclusive Ford parts dealer for the Atlanta territory, and renders an invaluable parts service to authorized Ford dealers through its truck service. These parts trucks, each completely fitted as a parts "store," cover ten established routes in and around Atlanta daily, supplying the needs of dealers and of service departments.

Beaudry service is all-inclusive. In connection with its sales and showrooms at 160 Marietta street, N. W., it maintains one of the most complete and modernly equipped service departments in the Atlanta territory, where a staff of factory-trained mechanics handles an amazing volume of repair work.

At 726 Peachtree street, it maintains and operates an all-purpose service unit, recently opened, for the special benefit of north side residents and for motorists traveling through that part of the city. This station is in charge of a courteous, efficient and highly trained staff, and all station services are available.

The company's mammoth used car lot is situated at the corner of Spring and Harris streets, where the prospective used car buyer may find at all times a widely diversified stock of economically priced cars. Every automobile or truck offered for sale on this lot is first thoroughly reconditioned and put in first-class condition by the Beaudry company's staff of 25 expert, factory-trained mechanics.

The Ford owner, prospective Ford owner or prospective used car buyer will do well to investigate the all-inclusive Beaudry service. Long experienced automobile experts are available at any time, well equipped by knowledge to discuss automotive needs, and Mr. Beaudry invites the present and future automobile owner to avail himself of this service.

AWTRY & LOWNDES MEETS ALL NEEDS IN BEREAVEMENT

Dignity, Efficiency, Economy and Sympathetic Service Combined in Time of Death.

Simple dignity in all their contacts, efficient handling of all their duties, moderate cost, and a kindly and understanding personal service, are combined to make Awtry & Lowndes, funeral directors, the logical persons to call when death comes into the home.

Long experienced in meeting the contingencies which death brings, Awtry & Lowndes are quick to perceive what is wanted, and perhaps to gather the combined wishes of a family as expressed by one, and to meet these views with efficiency and with sympathetic personal contact.

J. W. Awtry, president, and Frank R. Lowndes, vice president and manager of this establishment, invite Atlantans to visit their funeral home at 21 Cain street, N. W.—just a half block from Peachtree—and to see for themselves the complete facilities and the splendid equipment with which they are prepared to meet the duties attending death.

Far different from the traditional mental picture of a funeral director's establishment, the Awtry & Lowndes funeral home is a bright and cheerful place, where every effort is made to dispel grief and to soothe and comfort the saddened hearts of bereaved ones.

Few persons, Mr. Awtry points out, are prepared for the day when death shall visit the family circle, and when this visitation comes are thus unprepared for the burden which is suddenly thrust upon them. It is for this reason, again, that he invites the living to investigate the service Awtry & Lowndes are prepared to render.

"The burdens which death brings to surviving relatives would be greatly lightened," he points out, "if a choice of funeral directors were made before death's coming. This is just as important as should be done with just as great care as in selecting a physician. Once done, one may rest at ease in the knowledge that a great part of the burden of after death duty will be lifted from the shoulders of the sorrowing family in hours of grief."

Mr. Awtry lays a dignified emphasis upon the fact that whether the selection of a casket and arrangements for last rites be modest or elaborate, the person arranging for these things is given wide latitude of choice, and that no element of "salesmanship" is permitted to enter into such arrangements.

A special room is provided within the Awtry & Lowndes building, where a varied array of caskets and "auls" has been arranged for inspection by the person to make a selection. They are on display in a wide range of prices, in both wood and metals and in many varied trim materials. Here, without any member of the establishment present, members of the bereaved family may quietly make their own selection, thus assuring a choice quite within their means.

For the period preceding the funeral rites, a number of special family rooms have been provided, where the bereaved one may rest, spend a few moments or a few hours in silent communion with the departed one, or may spend the night if desired. Every facility of wide latitude has been provided, and attendants are at hand at all hours.

F. A. MCKENNEY.

F. A. McKenney, in recent months a territorial organizer in the eastern states, has recently been recalled to the executive offices of the Sanderson Adjustment Bureau, Inc., for appointment as field sales director, according to R. P. McDaniel, president of the organization.

Following his promotion, which comes as a mark of recognition of his highly successful work in the east, Mr. McKenney left for a tour of the central and midwestern states, during which he will carry out work incident to his new duties.

Mr. McKenney, discussing conditions in the east, reported a marked improvement in business in that section in recent months, and further disclosed a constant quickening of interest in the company's three-fold service to creditors.

The Sanderson Adjustment Bureau, Inc., with offices on the tenth floor of the Citizens & Southern Bank building, provides (1) a complete guaranteed service by which the creditor himself, through the use of effective letters and other media, is assured of the collection of good but slow accounts totaling ten times the cost of the service; (2) a highly specialized collection service, handled by the bureau itself, for "skips," bad and charged-off accounts, and (3) a monthly bulletin service compilation of valuable, comprehensively arranged credit information.

Considered one of the most beautiful and most peaceful in the city, it is equipped to seat up to 400 persons. Situated in the rear of the building, it is so arranged that the noises of the street may be completely shut out, and its air conditioning yet maintains at all times a comfortable temperature. It is equipped also for remote control of lighting effects and pre-service organ music.

The chapel altar, outlined by a stained glass window, is flanked on one side by the organ alone, and on the other by a recess where members of the family may sit during the service, shielded from the view of the audience.

Awtry & Lowndes service is as nearly complete as modern equipment and human characteristics can make it. It combines efficiency, sympathy, dignity, thoughtfulness, friendliness, kindness and reasonableness. It is a service to be desired when death comes.

WILLIAMS PLANT ASSURES PRINTING OF HIGH QUALITY
Finest of Equipment Provided To Handle All Types of Commercial Job Work.
Originality of design and clarity of detail, coupled with careful, efficient and speedy execution of its work, are factors which daily are winning new friends for the Williams Printing Company, Inc., among Atlanta business houses.
In the planning and production of modern business printing, declares Jesse Williams, head of this widely known printing house, these and countless other factors must be combined if the printed piece is to serve the purpose and produce the results for which it is intended. Especially is this true of matter for direct mail advertising use, which must be distinctive, not only to catch and hold the attention of its recipient but to carry its message to him in easily readable form.
Equally true of forms, blanks and other printed pieces for office use, which must be both simple and concise, for office efficiency is heightened in the same measure in which its records are made more readable.
The Williams Printing Company, Inc., has offices and plant in the third floor annex of the Rhodes building, 78 Marietta street. It is prepared to render to the printing buyer an all-inclusive service which combines modern methods with long experience in every phase of printing. Equipped with the most up-to-date high-speed machinery, a wide selection of type styles and an unlimited choice of paper stock, and manned by highly trained craftsmen, it is in position to render to users of commercial printing a service equal to that of any printing house of its caliber in the southeast.
Williams printing service goes far behind the materials with which it works, and the machinery with which it produces the finished product. It provides also a highly specialized service to its customers in the planning and preparation of printed matter, and invites consultation at any time on this phase of printing. This service, it is declared, has proven of incalculable value to countless Atlanta business executives who seek, through distinctiveness, to create a positive reaction on the part of the recipient of printed pieces.
The businessman who entrusts his printing order to the hands of the Williams Printing Company is assured that, whether it be large or small, it will receive personal and prompt attention to every detail, to the end that waste of time and expense may be entirely eliminated. Quality, variety and efficiency are the keystones of this company's service.

WILLIAMS PLANT ASSURES PRINTING OF HIGH QUALITY
Finest of Equipment Provided To Handle All Types of Commercial Job Work.
Originality of design and clarity of detail, coupled with careful, efficient and speedy execution of its work, are factors which daily are winning new friends for the Williams Printing Company, Inc., among Atlanta business houses.
In the planning and production of modern business printing, declares Jesse Williams, head of this widely known printing house, these and countless other factors must be combined if the printed piece is to serve the purpose and produce the results for which it is intended. Especially is this true of matter for direct mail advertising use, which must be distinctive, not only to catch and hold the attention of its recipient but to carry its message to him in easily readable form.
Equally true of forms, blanks and other printed pieces for office use, which must be both simple and concise, for office efficiency is heightened in the same measure in which its records are made more readable.
The Williams Printing Company, Inc., has offices and plant in the third floor annex of the Rhodes building, 78 Marietta street. It is prepared to render to the printing buyer an all-inclusive service which combines modern methods with long experience in every phase of printing. Equipped with the most up-to-date high-speed machinery, a wide selection of type styles and an unlimited choice of paper stock, and manned by highly trained craftsmen, it is in position to render to users of commercial printing a service equal to that of any printing house of its caliber in the southeast.
Williams printing service goes far behind the materials with which it works, and the machinery with which it produces the finished product. It provides also a highly specialized service to its customers in the planning and preparation of printed matter, and invites consultation at any time on this phase of printing. This service, it is declared, has proven of incalculable value to countless Atlanta business executives who seek, through distinctiveness, to create a positive reaction on the part of the recipient of printed pieces.
The businessman who entrusts his printing order to the hands of the Williams Printing Company is assured that, whether it be large or small, it will receive personal and prompt attention to every detail, to the end that waste of time and expense may be entirely eliminated. Quality, variety and efficiency are the keystones of this company's service.
